SC CONCERN OVER RAMPANT MISUSE OF LAW ON SEDITION

Wonders why there has been no govt bid to repeal it while many others were axed

KANU SARDA @New Delhi

EXPRESSING concern over the rampant misuse of the colonial sedition law, the Supreme Court on Thursday asked the Centre why it has not got rid of the legislation when several other old laws have been repealed.

The observation came when a bench headed by Chief Justice of India N V Ramana was hearing a plea by retired Major-General S G Vombatkere, who challenged the Constitutional validity of Section 124 A (sedition) of the IPC on the grounds that it causes a chilling effect on free speech.

"Dispute is that it is a colonial law and was used by the British to suppress freedoms and used against Mahatma Gandhi and Bal Gangadhar Tilak. Is this law still needed after 75 years of Independence?" Justice Ramana wondered.

Pointing towards its misuse, the CJI said, "If you see the history of charging under this section, the conviction rate is very low. The enormous power of this section can be compared to a carpenter being given a saw to make an item, (but) uses it to cut the entire forest instead of a tree. That's the effect of this provision." The CJI also clarified that he was not blaming any government but added that the concern was about the "misuse of the law and no accountability of the Executive".

According to Section 124 A of the Indian Penal Code, those who attempt to create hatred or contempt against the government shall be punished with imprisonment or fine or both. The offence is not bailable.

In 1962, the Supreme Court had upheld it in the Kedar Nath Yadav versus the State of Bihar case. "The government has taken out a lot of stale laws, I don't know why they have not looked into this," Justice Ramana told Attorney General K K Venugopal. The latter suggested that instead of repealing the section, parameters and guidelines could be laid down.

However, CJI Ramana once again emphasised the "gravity of the situation" and said "if a party does not want to hear the voice of the other party, they may use this type of law and implicate other people." The court then issued notice to the Centre and tagged it with other pending cases.

Substantial slack in economy even with 9.5 pc growth: RBI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hyderabad

IT's said all's well that ends well. With the unpleasantness surrounding the second Covid wave declining, economic indicators are 'brightening' prospects. But, one may have to wait for that perfect ending. At least RBI believes so.

In its monthly bulletin released on Thursday, it noted that the gradual decline of infections and an aggressive vaccination push have brightened the near-term prospects for the economy. But, there will be a substantial slack in the economy and demand pressures may take some more time to become evident. This is notwithstanding the projected 9.5% GDP growth rate this fiscal. Aggregate demand is the cleanest guide to recovery, but as the central bank noted, consumption isn't at full-throttle.

"While several high frequency indicators of activity are recovering, a solid increase is aggregate demand is yet to take shape," it noted. Several mobility indicators shot up in June, so did attendance at workplaces, power consumption and digital transactions – all of which considered forerunners to a revival in business and consumer confidence. In fact, RBI's 27-factor nowcasting model estimated Q1 real GDP growth at 21%. Adjusted for Q1's 5.5% inflation, nominal growth is pegged at 17.5%.

While on the supply side, agricultural conditions are turning buoyant with the revival in the monsoon, but the recovery of manufacturing and services sectors has been interrupted by the second wave. Likewise, specific demand-supply mismatches too exist such as protein-rich food items, edible oils and pulses, which were being addressed by specific supply-side measures, according to the report. RBI also stressed inflation will persist at elevated levels for some months before easing in Q3 of FY22 when the kharif harvest reaches markets.

GST DUES

Centre releases ₹8,542 crore to Karnataka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Union Finance Ministry on Thursday said it had released ₹75,000 crore to states under the 'back-to-back loan facility' in lieu of GST compensation. The loan facility is expected to compensate for losses in GST collections due to revenue shortages arising out of the Covid-19 pandemic and its impact on the economy.

Karnataka has received ₹8,542.17 crore as first instalment. The funds released on Thursday is in addition to regular GST compensation being released every two months out of actual cess collection to states. As per the decision taken in the 43rd GST Council meeting held in May, the Union Government will borrow ₹1.59 lakh crore and release it to states and UTs with legislature on a back-to-back basis.

The same principles that were applied to similar loans last fiscal year will be applied this year as well. The first installment is nearly 50 per cent of the total shortfall of compensation for the year.

"The balance amount will be released in the second half of 2021-22 in steady instalments," a statement from the Finance Ministry said. Karnataka has been assured of ₹18,000 crore this fiscal year as part of back-to-back loans apart from the regular compensation from actual cess collection.

These projects are expected to generate close to 15,000 direct employment opportunities. Even amidst the pandemic, the state has managed to attract ₹1 lakh crore in investment since March 2020, announced Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa on Thursday.

Since the beginning of the pandemic last March, the State Government has cleared more than 520 industrial projects, including the MoUs signed on Thursday, with a total investment of ₹77,000 crore, spanning multiple sectors. Additionally, proposals and MoUs worth ₹23,000 crore have been submitted, thus taking the total investment to ₹1 lakh crore.

"This marks the strong commitment of investors, despite the challenging Covid-19 scenario, to select Karnataka as their destination for investment," Yediyurappa said during the signing of the MoU at the Invest Karnataka Conclave.

Post-matric SC students to get scholarship e-cards

Pioneering paperless system; colleges can redeem e-vouchers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE State government will soon disburse free scholarship e-cards for post-matric Scheduled Caste (SC) students, using their Aadhaar, caste and family income IDs, and registration number of the last Board examination.

"Karnataka is the first state in the country to implement the Central government guidelines on the post-matric scholarship for SC students in letter and spirit," said Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Personnel & Administrative Reforms (DPAR) (e-governance) Rajiv Chawla on Thursday.

He added that the state will be the first to introduce a paperless system to award the scholarship to deserving post-matric students. "The entire process of entering details, verification, admission, disbursement of scholarship and tracking of students has been automated," said the senior IAS officer.

The post-matric scholarships are centrally-sponsored schemes implemented through state governments. Explaining the modalities of the soon-to-be-launched scheme, Chawla said the students need to log into the State Scholarship Portal (SSP) and upload the three certificates.

The post-matric scholarships are centrally-sponsored schemes implemented through states | EXPRESS

"These details will be verified electronically and students can download and show it to the college for admission, as a guarantee of payment of fee by the government. We are connected with the state, CBSE and ICSE boards, and 65 universities," Chawla said.

"We are discussing whether UPI prepaid e-vouchers can be redeemed by the college where the student has taken admission with the National Payments Corporation of India (NPIC). If that doesn't work, then disbursement of fee will be done to the Aadhaar-seeded bank accounts of the students," he added.

The system has embedded exclusions and restrictions to weed out ineligible candidates. For instance, a scholarship application for the same group course or for a second professional course. Besides, 75 per cent biometric attendance is a must for continuation of scholarship.

Student denied hall ticket for not paying fees

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@Bengaluru

WITH SSLC exams scheduled in less than a week, a student has claimed that she didn't get her hall ticket due to non-payment of school fees. However, the school administration refuted her allegations, saying that the student never registered for Class 10.

Narasimha Murthy, the student's father and an agriculturist, told The New Indian Express that the pandemic has thrown them into financial turmoil. "Part of the previous year's fees was pending, and we couldn't pay this year too," he added.

Meanwhile, Vijaya Murthy, Principal of Alva's English Medium School, Moodbidri, told TNIE that the student's hostel and school fees were pending.

"When the parents were contacted for admission to Class 10 in May, they didn't respond," she added, and said that since she was never formally admitted to school, the hall ticket was not issued.

Alva's Chairman Mohan Alva told TNIE that the generosity of the institute was being misused. "Even the older sibling completed Class 12 without paying fees."

To shore up revenue, Palike to recover leased properties

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

FEELING the pinch on its finances amid the pandemic, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has taken up aggressive surveys and officials are perusing record books to recover properties whose lease has expired.

"There is a need to recover the properties as the corporation needs revenue and the buildings for other works. We need more office spaces and we cannot be using other spaces when we have our own," an official explained.

Officials are also apprehensive as private persons are reluctant to vacate buildings leased out to them. "Thus, a detailed survey is being done to know the status of each so that steps to be taken are chalked out better," the official said.

Earlier, when there was a council and the administration was under the head-office, the records were all set right. Now, since it has been decentralised to zones, there is no single database and there is a lot if disparity. This is only affecting the BBMP accounts, the official pointed out.

According to the records, of the 6,815 BBMP properties in the city, 324 were leased out. Of these, 161 properties still have their lease in force while for 163, it has expired. The total amount generated from the 324 properties leased for the year 2020- 21 is Rs 54,90,206.

Of the properties whose lease has expired, 74 are in West Bengaluru, 54 in South Bengaluru and 35 in East Bengaluru. Of those whose lease is still in effect, 88 are in East Bengaluru, 36 in West, 35 in South and one each in Yelahanka and Mahadevapura zones.

"We know the status and account of the year 2020- 21, but we are still assessing the documents for 2021- 22," the official said.

HC directs BMRCL to plant 4k trees

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN view of the assurance given by the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) to plant 4,000 trees/saplings, as a part of compensatory afforestation, the Karnataka High Court permitted it to cut and translocate around 348 trees which are listed in the submitted memorandum.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order, after the court was informed that the BMRCL has proposed to plant 4,000 trees, as against the original plan to plant 3,480 trees (1:10 ratio - 10 plants for cutting of one tree). The trees will be planted at the Old Military Dairy Farm at Hebbal.

The court directed the Tree Officer and DCF, Bengaluru Urban District, to specify the number of trees to be planted in each category out of 33 varieties of plants, saying it is their duty to propose each category of saplings to be planted.

Neither BMRCL nor the Tree Officer specified the number of trees in each category, in the reports submitted to the court. Terming it very vague, the court directed them to specify the same. The court was hearing a PIL filed by Dattatreya T Devare and one other.

Karwar, Sirsi top in school admissions in state

KARWAR: While the state is witnessing low percentage of school admissions due to pandemic, Uttara Kannada district has topped the list with both Karwar and Sirsi admitting 94 and 93 per cent of students.

The school admissions in various parts of the state, including in Bengaluru, are moving at a snail's pace. Just a couple of days ago, Sirsi was in sixth position with 86 per cent. However, with the interest shown by officials, the Sirsi education district has now reached the second place with Karwar being in the top position. Deputy Director of Public Instructions, Karwar Education District (KED), Harish Gaonkar told TNIE, "We have Karwar in the first position with 94 per cent, followed by Sirsi with 93 per cent." Chitradurga Education District has bagged the third position.

He added, "The admission process is still on in all other districts, but it is almost completed in U-K. The admission has been completed. However, this needs to be uploaded to Education Department websites. Most of our schools are in interior villages where there is no internet connectivity.The school authorities have to come to some place, where there is a network to upload details. Maybe in a couple of days, our admission process will be completed."

CIVIC BODY REPAIRS FOOTPATH ON OLD MADRAS ROAD

Bengaluru: The BBMP has taken action and closed the gaping opening in the footpath of the Old Madras Road cross, which posed a danger to pedestrians, as well as made it difficult for businesses to carry on with their work due to swarming mosquitoes. Residents thanked The New Indian Express for highlighting the issue in its July 14 report "Storm water drain turns into sewer, residents suffer", which led to the BBMP jumping into action. Sarvesh, a shop owner in Lakshmi Market, said, "As soon as the report appeared in the paper, staff swung into action. We are relieved to have a clean and clutter-free footpath now."

PETER VIDAL

16th July: It's a remarkable moment. This is a time of year when the general disposition of the celestial bodies evokes such mythical themes as rebirth and resurrection. Many cultures have traditions of solar-heroes who are reborn around now, bringing light to the world and enlightenment to our souls. I find this thought very inspiring.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Some of you are by now feeling the pressures ease, but others have yet to encounter the full force of partners' opposition to their plans. Always bear in mind, though, that friends have your interests very much at heart. And what this means is that you'll be receiving support you don't even know about.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Neptune's presence in your tenth solar house is bringing a degree of inspiration but also a risk that you'll lose touch with reality. Spend your time on imaginative activities and don't get too bogged down in the facts. This week's hard information will be next week's fairy tales.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
The demands on your time are many and varied, yet you have the ultimate choice as to how you arrange the day. If social gatherings are planned there's no reason at all why these shouldn't be as enjoyable as expected - even if you are much more intense than usual.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
After all you've been through, you may be pleased to know that your planets are now adopting a classically romantic and inspired formation. Arrange your life to benefit from social opportunities, and you'll soon discover that friendly contacts could usher in professional improvement.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Mars is not the only planet inducing a restless frame of mind at the moment, although it is undoubtedly a powerful, unsettling force. Yet, you may now be in urgent need of rest and recuperation, and anyone who genuinely cares for you will give you more space and support.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Although you may not be directly affected, there's a distinct air of romance abroad. At the very least this is an ideal period to take some time off and mix with attractive and civilised people. I am emphasising this now because there's a risk you'll attract those who are angry and aggressive.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Now the week is drawing to a close you may be relieved that you won't have to handle a number of hot topics. Yet, both today and the weekend will bring a number of additional personal factors to your attention. An extra thought - additions to your family are now a very strong possibility.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There's little time to relax for most Scorpios, although developments over the next couple of days will bring a welcome dose of fantasy to otherwise humdrum situations. It's time to put your dreams into action, for next week your chance may have passed.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It would be misleading to say that everything that has been happening has been to your immediate benefit but, in the long term, almost all that you've been involved in will be advantageous. You're in a fine social phase, by the way, so take some time off and enjoy yourself.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
In general, you should see this as a time to broaden your horizons, take on new responsibilities and experiment with fresh approaches to established problems. Believe in your intuition for a change. I know that's not always easy, but try to trust more in your own talents.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
As the dust settles on a number of controversial issues, your mind may turn to imaginative schemes and proposals. From now until after the weekend, the focus will be on professional ambitions, perhaps in relation to a close friend - and I mean a very close friend!

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
If expenditure is on the agenda today, bear in mind that midday is an excellent time to splash out on luxuries and frivolities, but that your normal, careful approach is likely to slip if you're buying machinery or gadgets. Partners may be mistaken about a financial plan, but they may have to find this out for themselves.

Kids missed regular inoculation during Covid

Lack of immunisation leaves children vulnerable; Pandemic, migration, reverse migration led to chaos

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

UNITED Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) has said that India has the most number of unvaccinated and under-vaccinated children in the world. In Karnataka, paediatric experts say that many children lost out on routine immunisation during the pandemic, compared to 2018.

"We have observed that in Karnataka, routine immunisation has definitely taken a beating. When I see my patients' cards, a lot of vaccines have been missed, and some of them had to be given last year. This is not good, because immunisation delayed is immunisation denied. The baby could catch a disease," says Dr Ranjan Kumar Pejavar, President, National Neonatalogy Forum, head of neonatology department at Meenakshi Hospitals in Bengaluru.

According to data available with TNIE from the Health Management Information System, the target set and achieved, when compared to 2018, is comparatively low, but Dr Rajani Nagesh Rao, Joint Director, Immunisation, Health and Family Welfare, believes that the target for full immunisation programmes have been achieved in most of the districts, except some districts like Bagalkot, Vijayapura, Haveri and Udupi, where it is less, compared to earlier years.

"I agree that in some districts, children have missed out on immunisation. The main reason is that a lot of migration and reverse migration has happened, especially during May, and this is continuing in some regions. The other reason is that many staffers and ASHA workers are occupied with Covid cases and vaccination-related work. In May especially, we couldn't have outreach sessions, as schools and anganwadis were closed. But data gathering and entering are also contributing factors," she said.

Experts point out that this difference in number of children missing out on vaccines was more significant in booster doses, compared to birth doses. Citing that many children are coming up with chicken pox, diphtheria and typhoid infections already, due to their vaccination schedules being missed, Dr Sreenivasa S, Chairman, National IMA Standing Committee for Child Health, says, "Booster vaccines for diphtheria and typhoid kind of vaccines, which are given to children aged 16-23 months, and again between 5 and 6 years of age. We have seen children coming with infections related to this, due to non-vaccination," he said.

The doctors also suggest that the backlog has to be given immediately. "Most of the vaccines can be given, even if delayed. There are very few vaccines which cannot be given beyond a certain date. But we must educate parents and re-adjust the vaccine schedule. They shouldn't take missing of vaccines lightly," Dr Ranjan says.

Meanwhile, doctors call for rigorous public campaigns to be held across the state. There should be campaigns and door-to-door data collection on how many children have missed which vaccines, so that it becomes easier to do micro planning. However, Dr Rajani explains that the Karnataka health department is already planning such a campaign, and will be starting this very soon in every district.

"There has never been zero vaccination in the state. We couldn't do outreach sessions, which used to happen at the facilities on Tuesdays and Fridays. We are putting in all our efforts now to bring them back."

Belagavi hosp to conduct trials of Sanofi vax

BELAGAVI: Belagavi-based Jeevan Rekha Hospital will be conducting clinical trials of a Covid-19 vaccine developed by the French multinational pharmaceutical company Sanofi in the next 10 days, if everything goes according to plan. US-based Sanofi Pharma has already received permission from drug regulators to conduct clinical trials in India. It has decided to conduct the trials at one time in 13 countries, including India. Jeevan Rekha Hospital has been chosen for the trials, and it will be one among 10 centres in India where trials will be held. The hospital has conducted trials of Covaxin and ZyCov-D.

Hospital body plans multi-pronged strategy to stave off third wave

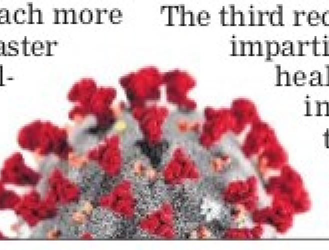
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN a concerted effort to prepare effectively for the next wave of the Covid-19 pandemic in Karnataka, Private Hospitals and Nursing Homes Association (PHANA) has planned the implementation of a multi-pronged strategy, especially when the cases are low.

Dr Hema Divakar, who was appointed chair of PHANA's Expert Group on Covid-19, has come out with a set of recommendations encompassing vaccination advocacy, research-linked data documentation and effective training of healthcare workers. One recommendation is that private hospitals must follow the hub-and-spoke model to conduct vaccination drives.

The hub refers to bigger private players who procure the vaccine and then give it to the spokes, which are smaller hospitals, nursing homes and polyclinics, so as to reach more beneficiaries, at a faster pace. "This was followed during the first phase of the vaccination drive and the outcomes were effective," said Dr Prasanna H M, president, PHANA.

The second recommendation is data documentation. A common template and colour-coded document for the case sheet must be used by all private hospitals. This will help disseminate case-related information accurately and speedily to state nodal centres. The third recommendation is imparting training to all healthcare workers in the latest practices and guidelines for care.



Vaccination camps will be held based on supplies

ENS @ Bengaluru

VACCINATION at primary health centres (PHCs) will continue as usual, but camps will be organised depending on the supply and demand of doses, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said on Thursday. He told reporters that a micro-plan is prepared daily based on the supply and availability of vaccines.

Following the drop in Covid cases, the government has proposed to reduce the number of beds in hospitals and limit those at Covid Care Centres, he said. He directed Marshals to ensure that all Covid norms are followed at Kalasipalya and KR Market. "Vendors must use only the allotted spaces which are marked with yellow," he said.

How to create a Sales Playbook

What is a playbook?
A sales playbook is a combination of steps and tactics for your sales team. There are objectives, team member roles, measurement objectives, commonly used language and other salient aspects to close a sale. The points listed below will get you started on how to make a sales playbook:

Customer's buying process
Each customer is unique in their own way and therefore have varied requirements and buying processes. As part of the sales playbook, there should be a clear set of instructions to understand and gauge two fundamental aspects of a customer:
1. Customer need - the exact problem that the customer is trying to solve and whether our product that we intend to sell, will solve the problem.
2. Customer buying process or buying timeline - the sequence of steps that the customer will take to ensure our product is a right fit for her. The other important part is the timeframe within which the customer is looking to buy the product or service.

Your Value Proposition (Products or Service)
The value proposition starts from basic information such as price details, discounts, warranties and other aspects such as refunds. Though price is a strong signal of value, price does not provide a complete picture of the value. For example, there could be ease of access to high quality service technicians, or quality standards that are higher than the regular industry.

Objections to your product or service
Usually there will be a number of objections raised during the sales process. These objections will have to be dealt with negotiation. Negotiation is a skill that is acquired over time however a sales playbook should be able to hasten the learning curve.

Best Practices and noteworthy examples
Always have brief case studies of some best practices, such as greeting techniques, follow up methods or how to document a sales call. These best practices will help your sales person to emulate these practices quickly.

AFTER facing a severe shortage of oxygen during the second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic, the Karnataka Government is looking to course-correct ahead of the possible third wave.

The B S Yediyurappa Cabinet on Thursday approved a slew of incentives to encourage more oxygen manufacturing units to be set up in the state to counter a possible shortage of the life-saving commodity. The move is also a step towards the state's preparedness for the possible third wave of Covid.

"We faced oxygen shortage during the second wave of Covid-19. To eliminate any shortage and to encourage more oxygen production and storage, the Cabinet has approved an incentive scheme for oxygen manufacturing associated enterprises in Karnataka. We currently have nine manufacturing units and six suppliers. Production capacity is 815 metric tons and storage capacity is 5,780 metric tons. These incentives will be given to entrepreneurs who will come forward to increase both," Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister Basavaraj Bommai told the media after the Cabinet meeting.

Cabinet okays ₹15 cr for cow shelter in each dist

ENS @ Bengaluru

AS part of implementing its cattle protection Bill, the Karnataka Cabinet on Thursday sanctioned Rs 15 crore to set up cow shelters in each district.

"We have approved Rs 15 crore in the first phase to begin works on setting up cattle shelters in each district. More funds will be released depending on the progress of the works," said Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

The decision comes at a time when the government is already facing a fund crunch and is resorting to additional borrowings to offset revenue losses.The Cabinet also approved a plan to set up a statue of Basavanna on the premises of Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru. Bommai said that the expenditure will be borne by the Kannada and Culture Department.

"All these projects that come to the Cabinet for discussions go through the scrutiny of the Finance Department first. Only after the Finance Department has taken the costs and duration into consideration, it is sent to the Cabinet. Hence, there won't be any fund shortage for these projects," Bommai elaborated, when asked about the precarious financial situation of the state. He added that many projects do not require funds immediately and hence, the timeline also helps calculating costs.

K'taka to make big investment pitch with GIM in Feb 2022

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AFTER a prolonged delay, Karnataka is set to host its much anticipated Global Investors' Meet (GIM) in February next year. The cabinet on Thursday approved dates for the meet, to be held under the banner of 'Invest Karnataka 2022', between February 9 and 11. This is the first GIM the state will be hosting, after the Covid-19 pandemic derailed the 2020 edition of the meet.

"The cabinet has decided to hold the Global Investors' Meet at Bengaluru's Palace Grounds next year. The meet will be held between February 9 and 11. Details will be finalised later," Minister for Home, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Basavaraj Bommai said, briefing the media on cabinet decisions on Thursday.

"Keeping the investor-centric approach, our government launched the New Industrial Policy 2020-2025 to build a prosperous Karnataka, and create large-scale employment opportunities. This industrial policy is forward-looking and brings several incentives and regulatory reforms such as land access and labour market regulation," said Industries Minister Jagadish Shettar.

The Global Investors' Meet comes after six years. Karnataka hosted its fourth edition of the GIM in 2016, concluding it with 1,201 approved projects and MoUs valued at Rs 3,08,810 crore. After 2016, HD Kumaraswamy had announced a GIM in 2019, but the plan was shelved with the collapse of his coalition government with the Congress. When BJP came to power, BS Yediyurappa announced a Global Investors' Meet in 2020, while inaugurating a curtain-raiser event in Davos at the World Economic Forum, but the pandemic put these plans on the backburner. After postponing the event at least twice due to the pandemic, Karnataka will finally see preparations for the Global Investors' Meet going on the floors soon.

State to develop sector-specific clusters

THE MoUs include projects in various sector including electric vehicles, data centres, aerospace and defence. Despite the challenging pandemic situation in the country and across the world, Karnataka has garnered Rs 28,600 crore worth of investments in the last six months in the form of MoUs and investment proposals.

Speaking on the occasion, Industries minister Jagadish shettar said the government aims to retain Karnataka's position as a global manufacturing hub. "We are working to promote tier-2 and tier-3 regions of the state by developing multiple sector-specific clusters. We have developed dedicated clusters for toys in Koppal, for consumer electronics in Dharwad, pharmaceuticals in Yadgir and few more will be added in the coming days," Shettar said.

Some of the leading companies which have signed investment agreements include C4V, a leading US-based Li-ion cell manufacturer (Rs 4,015 crore), LNG Alliance, a Singapore-based LNG terminal operator (Rs. 2,250 crore), Adani Data Centers (Rs. 5,000 crore), Shettar added.

Promoting the economic and industrial development of the state has always been a top priority for the government, the minister emphasised. "With an investor-centric approach, our government has launched the New Industrial Policy 2020-2025 to build a prosperous Karnataka and create large-scale employment opportunities. The policy is very forward-looking and brings several incentives and regulatory reforms such as land access and labour market regulation," he added.

"Karnataka has been listed on the top in the recent NITI Aayog Innovation Index. This has been possible due to the availability of quality human resources, reputable higher education institutions and a significant thrust on research and development, aided by a proactive administration and conducive investment climate," he said.

MAJOR companies like Wipro-GE, Narayana Hrudayalaya, Adithya Birla Group and Home Lane, and associations like the Electronics City Industries Association (ELCIA), ESDM cluster are among those that will provide skill training to the youth, depending on the requirement of the industries. They will also help them find jobs. The MoUs include starting courses related to the automotive sector in select ITIs in Bengaluru, Ramanagara and Tumakuru districts.

The state has a population of 2.21 crore in the age group of 16-35 and programmes have been initiated to improve economic and social development by providing skill training, the CM said.

Deputy CM and Minister for Skill Development, Entrepreneurship, and Livelihood, Dr C N Ashwath Narayan, said the government has planned to sign 40 MoUs with various companies. SURJEWALA LOOKING FOR JOB CHANGE? MAY EXIT KARNATAKA

@ Bengaluru

THERE is much speculation over the continuance of Congress leader Randeep Singh Surjewala as General Secretary in-charge of Karnataka. Several newspaper reports speculated that owing to personal issues, Surjewala had sought an assignment in his home state of Haryana. TNIE had been hearing reports that Surjewala was looking for a post closer to Delhi, given the long flights to Bengaluru, but it was considered mere speculation.

Highly placed Congress sources confirmed that Surjewala is, indeed, facing challenges on the health front, but were unwilling to confirm that he had sought a change, nor that the high command had decided to change his responsibility. Surjewala is seen to be close to Rahul Gandhi, and was heading the media department in the AICC for five years now.

Elections in Haryana are due in 2024, and sources speculate that he may be keen on establishing a firm political imprint in his state. A Congressman, though, refused to believe that a senior functionary could give up the state of Karnataka, given the potent but surmountable challenges it presents. Surjewala was named General Secretary in-charge of Karnataka about 10 months ago, and took over from K C Venugopal, who was moved out as General Secretary (Organisation).

At Banjara meet, DKS hailed as next CM

CHITRADURGA: The call for KPCC President DK Shivakumar as next chief minister echoed at the Banjara community meet, called by the Congress at Bhaighad -- the birth place of Sant Sevalal in Sooragondanakoppa village in Davanagere district -- on Thursday. The support for Shivakumar comes at a time when Opposition leader Siddaramaiah's followers are also shouting slogans, hailing him as the next chief minister, making it clear that Shivakumar and Siddaramaiah are aspirants for the CM's chair. Addressing the Banjara community, Shivakumar said that after coming to power in the 2023 general elections, his first priority will be to uplift the neglected communities in the state. He said he will visit all thandas.

Min talks tough on buildings violating norms in Jakkur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE State Government has decided to crackdown on buildings near Jakkur Aerodrome here which are found to be in violation of Director General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) norms posing a threat to flying activities.

Youth Services and Sports Minister Narayan Gowda directed the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike officials to clear buildings that violate DGCA's height norms. "Clear buildings that violate the 45m height norm within 5-km radius of the aerodrome," he said.

Reviewing operations of the Government Flying Training School located at Jakkur, Gowda directed the officials to conduct a drone survey to identify buildings violating the norms and submit a report within 15 days. A preliminary survey conducted by the officials had found 15 such buildings.

While some buildings were constructed without obtaining No Objection Certificates, others violated the height norms after getting NOCs, read a statement from the minister's office.

The Airports Authority of India (AAI) survey had found that 11 buildings violated the norms, while a survey by the flying school had found four buildings.

Meanwhile, officials have seized properties of companies that have failed to clear dues towards landing and parking charges. The officials informed Gowda that Rs 5 crore is due from companies that used the aerodrome for landing and parking and they have failed to respond to notices. The minister directed the officials to take up the issue with the heads of those firms.

The flying school will restart its operations from August 20.

Nothing wrong in MLAs visiting Delhi: Kateel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kalaburagi

BJP State president Nalin Kumar Kateel on Thursday said "there is nothing wrong in BJP MLAs visiting New Delhi". He told reporters, on his arrival at the airport, "MLAs visit New Delhi for their personal work, and we cannot find fault in this."

On Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's visit to Delhi on Friday, Kateel said it is a practice for chief ministers to visit Delhi prior to the commencement of the legislature session. "As the session is scheduled to start soon, the chief minister is visiting New Delhi," he added.

Refusing to comment on the much-debated cabinet reshuffle, Kateel further said, "It is the prerogative of the chief minister."

He also took a swipe at the Congress, saying, "Assembly elections are still two years away, but the musical chair contest has already started in the Congress party."

The Anekal sub-division police of Bengaluru Rural district have arrested 56 people, and solved 37 cases. They recovered stolen valuables worth Rs 1.74 crore from them. A property parade was held on Wednesday and Central Range IGP M Chandrasekhar inspected the recovered valuables, which were handed over to the owners.

Indrajit claims Darshan assaulted waiter; hotel owner denies it

Filmmaker meets Home Minister, seeks investigation by Mysuru Police

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru / Bengaluru

WHILE the case of an attempt to cheat actor Darshan Thoogudeepa by misusing his name is still fresh in memory, filmmaker and journalist Indrajit Lankesh has made a serious allegation against the 'Challenging Star', accusing him of assaulting an employee at a hotel in Mysuru on June 25 when the lockdown was in effect. The police have also been blamed for hushing up the case.

On Thursday morning, Indrajit Lankesh met Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai and appealed to him to instruct the Mysuru police to probe the issue. Bommai said Indrajit's letter has been handed over to the Mysuru City Police Commissioner, who will look into the matter. Sources said a team has been constituted under a Deputy Commissioner of Police-rank officer, who will submit a report after a probe.

Indrajit has alleged that Mysuru police stations were turning into 'settlement' stations.

Following the allegations, Sandesh Nagaraj, a film producer who is also the Managing Director of Sandesh The Prince hotel, where the incident is alleged to have taken place, denied that any of his staff was assaulted by Darshan, but admitted there was indeed a 'scene' over a service issue. "None of our staffers was assaulted by Darshan. He had come with his friends for a poolside party before the lockdown. The actor, in frustration over a service issue, had scolded a staffer but had never hit anyone. I was there during the incident," Nagaraj said.

Indrajit claimed the 'SC' staffer had serious eye injuries and if police could recover the CCTV footage, they would get evidence. He also alleged that the staffer was sacked after the incident by the hotel management. However, Nagaraj refuted the allegations, saying the person in question was not a staffer but a 'trainee' from Maharashtra or Bihar and claimed that the incident took place before the announcement of lockdown, and not on June 25, as alleged by Indrajit Lankesh.

"We preserve the CCTV footage of 10 days only. As the incident took place before the lockdown, we don't have the footage," said Nagaraj, who is close to Darshan. Meanwhile, a source revealed that the alleged victim was neither from another state nor a trainee, but was employed as a waiter for the last eight years, and a resident of Nazarbad in Mysuru.

ACB raids 9 officials over illegal assets

HC upholds rule permitting MSIL to run liquor outlets

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court upheld a Rule provided under the Karnataka Excise Act to give licence in favour of government-owned Mysore Sales International Limited (MSIL) to run retail sale liquor outlets, and also the notification and circular issued by the government under the said Rule approving 900 CL (11-C) licence, four places in each assembly constituency, in favour of MSIL.

Noting that the impugned notification was issued under the impugned Rule 3(11-C) of the Karnataka Excise (Sale of Indian and Foreign Liquors) Rules, and the same cannot be said as being illegal, since no right is created in favour of any citizen, Justice Hemant Chandangoudar dismissed a batch of writ petitions filed by liquor shop owners questioning the Rule, as well as the notification.

The court noted that its coordinate bench in 2018 held that in the absence of right, a rival competitor cannot be excluded from establishing or running a liquor business. The apex court in the case of Jasbhai has held that the owner of a cinema house cannot challenge the setting up of a new cinema house, because it does not result in injury to a legal right or legally-protected interest, the business competition causing it being a lawful activity, the court added, while holding that the challenge to the notification and also the licences granted in favour of MSIL are not maintainable for want of locus standi.

The court said that the impugned Rule does not lack legislative competence, and also does not offend Article 14 of the Constitution, and the petitioners have no locus standi to challenge the notification and licences to MSIL. Accordingly, the writ petitions stands dismissed, it added.

38 overstaying foreigners held

ENS @Bengaluru

A team of CCB officers on Thursday conducted a search of 65 houses, and detained 38 foreigners over allegations of overstaying their visas in the city, while also confiscating 90 ecstasy pills and 25 grams of marijuana from two Nigerians.

A senior police officer said that a team comprising six ACPs, 20 Police Inspectors, 100 Head Constables and Constables conducted the surprise checks, which began early in the morning, and continued till afternoon. The search was conducted at Banaswadi, KR Puram, Hennur, Ramamurthynagar, Sampigehalli, and Yelahanka. All the detained foreign nationals hail from African countries, with a few among them lacking valid documents. They had reportedly come to India on tourist, business and student visas.

The police are questioning all 38 persons about their purpose of stay, and if they have applied for visa renewal, apart from their activities in the city. Most of them stated that the expiry of their travel documents was not deliberate, but due to the pandemic situation. Some of them said they could not go back as flights were cancelled, sources said.

ASSEMBLY RUCKUS

SC takes Kerala to task for bid to withdraw cases

Does gun-wielding MLA in assembly have immunity from prosecution, asks top court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@T'Puram

THE Supreme Court division bench on Tuesday asked the state government if an MLA brandishes a gun in the assembly, will he also get immunity from prosecution available for legislators.

Justice D Y Chandrachud asked this to senior lawyer Ranjith Kumar during the argument in the appeal filed by the state challenging the Kerala High Court order denying permission to withdraw criminal cases registered against six LDF leaders, including two sitting and four former MLAs, in connection with the assembly ruckus case of 2015.

"Heated arguments happen in the court too. Does anyone have the right to destroy properties in the courtroom?" asked Chandrachud. The SC bench repeatedly asked the state what was the public interest in withdrawing the case registered by police by slapping the Prevention of Damage to Public Property Act.

Justice M R Shah said the argument by the prosecution in the chief judicial magistrate court seeking withdrawal of prosecution proceedings lacked clarity. "The prosecutor said there was no evidence to prove the case. But, there are CCTV visuals of the violence committed by the accused. Had any piece of evidence been destroyed after this government took over, wouldn't there have been a new case under IPC 201 (related to disappearance of evidence)?" Shah asked.

The opposition UDF had used the argument to put the CPM in a tricky spot by saying the argument was against the new LDF constituent KC(M) led by Jose K Mani, son of former finance minister K M Mani.

State's counsel and the counsel representing the accused MLAs argued that the protest in the assembly followed the attack on woman legislators that happened on the budget day of 2015. "Woman MLAs were moved out of the assembly hall on stretchers and the violence broke out following that," said Ranjit Kumar.

After arguments that lasted for three-and-a-half hours, the division bench reserved the case for judgment.

Six LDF legislators of 2015, including incumbent General Education Minister V Sivankutty and sitting MLA K T Jaleel, are the accused in the case related to destruction of computer, mike and other furniture on the Speaker's dais, causing a damage to the tune of ₹2.20 lakh. Former MLAs E P Jayarajan, K Ajith, C K Sadasivan and K Kunjammed are the other accused in the case.

RAIN CONTINUES TO BATTER PARTS OF K'TAKA

Boating across Kabini river has been suspended | EXPRESS

Water level rises in Kabini after heavy rain in Wayanad

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

WITH rains lashing Wayanad district in neighbouring Kerala state, the inflow in the Kabini reservoir has shot up considerably and a flood warning has been issued asking people in low-lying areas to move to safer places.

Water level in the reservoir stood at 2,279 ft as against maximum level of 2,284 ft. While the inflow was over 15,861 cusecs, the discharge was 13,500 cusecs into the river.

As the region is receiving copious rain and all tributaries are in spate, the inflow is likely to further swell any time and irrigation officials are closely monitoring the inflow round-the-clock.

They are also in touch with the water resource department of Kerala to take all precautionary measures.

Villages situated on the backwaters of Kabini are hit. Boating across the Kabini has been stopped from DB Kuppe to villages falling in Kerala state. Villagers in DB Kupe who were worst-affected during the floods for the last two years are shifting to nearby government schools. The inflow into KRS has also increased following heavy rains in Kodagu and the discharge of water from the Harangi dam.

Water level at the KRS stood at 90.6 ft as against 124.8 ft. Irrigation officials have released 2,209 cusecs of water into the canal while the inflow is also expected to increase as the crest gates of Harangi dam in Kushal Nagar are opened.

Self defence: Mom of two kills attacker, let off

A 23-year-old woman who allegedly killed a man to protect herself from an attempt to rape was let go by the police on grounds that she had acted only in self-defence. According to the police, the woman, a mother of two, was struggling to free herself from the clutches of the deceased when she pushed him. The man, whose identity is yet to be ascertained, is believed to have hit his head against a rock and died on the spot.

After preliminary inquiries pointed that the woman had only acted in her self-defence, Tiruvallur district Superintendent of Police V Varun Kumar invoked section 100 of the IPC (right of private defence) and released her on station-bail.

According to the police, the locals reported a man found dead in a fish farm near Minjur on Wednesday afternoon. His body was retrieved and sent to the Tiruvallur Government Hospital for post-mortem. A case of suspicious death under section 174 of CrPC was registered. From his appearances and speech, police suggested that he could be a migrant worker. On investigation, it was found that the man had been stalking one Lakshmi (name changed).

The woman lived with her husband and two children in a small room-like structure in the property and the family was employed at the fish farm. A senior police officer said, "On Wednesday, the man sneaked into the farm, allegedly gagged the woman and dragged her to a secluded place in the farm where he tried to force himself on her." As the man held her from behind, Lakshmi pushed him, following which he slipped, and hit a rock on the ground. The ground was slippery from rain the previous night.

When the man fainted, Lakshmi dragged the body and dumped it on the roadside, after which she informed her husband. He and other workers rushed there only to find villagers standing around the man lying unconscious. On information, the Minjur police rushed to the spot, and alerted the ambulance. He was confirmed dead due to concussion by the para-medic staff. Inspector Vadivel Murugan said, "We inquired about the suspect in the neighbourhood and they had spotted him for a couple of days in the area. But the residents confirmed that he was not employed in any company there."

Immediately, Sullia CDPO Rashmi Ashok, local administration officials and Sullia police rushed to the house, and stopped the wedding.

A team of officials and Sullia police raided the house of the groom and stopped a child marriage on Wednesday

"The minor girl from Mysuru is a distant relative of the groom, and both families had agreed to the marriage. They are from a poor economic background and had no knowledge about child marriage. The girl's family had arrived in Sullia on Wednesday evening, and had no documents to prove that the girl is a major. The officials explained the ill-effects of child marriage, and told the family that the girl could be married only after she attained the age of 18 years, as per law. Both families agreed to cancel the wedding," Sullia tahshildar Anithalaxmi told TNIE.

CDPO Rashmi said the girl had discontinued studies at pre-university level. "The man does rubber tapping work. After counselling the family, the minor girl was taken to Mysuru. The family contacted the CDPO in Mysuru and have given in writing that their daughter's marriage would take place with the same man once she turns 18," she said.

WITH MASTERCARD BAN, RBI FIRMS UP DATA LOCALISATION STANCE

The RBI has sent out a stern reminder that businesses must follow the letter of the law. On Wednesday, it barred global payments systems provider MasterCard, whose market share in India is roughly a third of total debit and credit cards currently. The central bank made no bones about MasterCard's non-compliance even after 'considerable time and adequate opportunities' to fall in line with its April 2018 circular on localisation of data storage. The RBI had also asked foreign banks for a board-approved system audit report certifying compliance with its data localisation norms, which MasterCard and others have failed to furnish even after three years. In the recent past, the RBI has barred players like American Express and Diners Club, and the latest rap only reiterates the central bank's intent to solidify its stance on data localisation.

Drawing territorial limits to the flow of data gains significance amid rising breaches and electronic spying at companies including domestic players like Mobikwik, Big Basket and Unacademy, where the data of customers was put on the dark web for sale. Data on transactions is crucial to avoid financial frauds, but foreign banks reason that local data storage runs counter to their centralisation practices and limits their flexibility to detect frauds. The central bank maintains that while storing data locally, they can send data overseas for 24 hours for analysis.

With mushrooming fintech and payment systems providers, data gathering practices are increasingly becoming opaque. Often, consumers too give consent to privacy forms without reading the complex fine print and hence enhanced regulation is even critical to ensure financial safety and stability. That said, it's important to balance stakeholders' interests, particularly in overlapping areas of fraud detection and prevention of money laundering. If the broader Personal Data Protection Bill, 2019, is taken up in the upcoming Monsoon Session, perhaps the issue of cross-border data flows will likely get attention. This can throw clarity on whether developing cross-border data flow agreements with countries having similar principles of data protection and privacy should be extended to financial transactions too.

END GOVT-TRIBAL CLASH IN TELANGANA

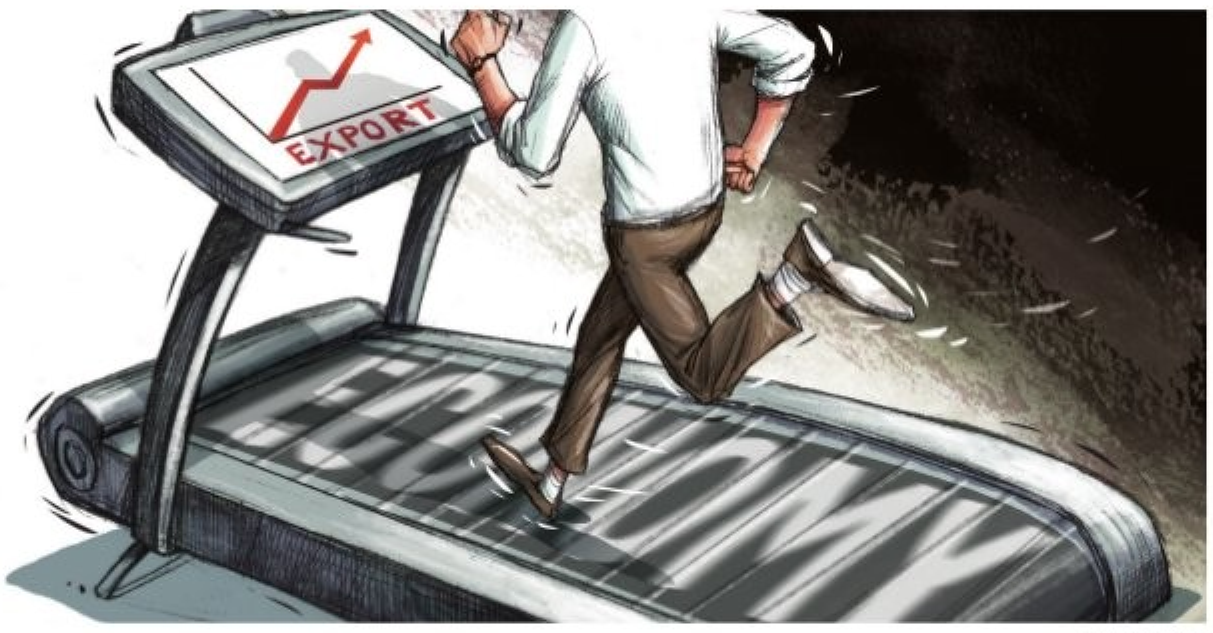
When the Southwest monsoon comes to Telangana, it brings along with it unrest in tribal habitations. The inevitable clashes that take place between the forest department staff and the tribals not only disturb the stillness of the sylvan glades of Telangana's hinterland but are also eloquent testimony to the government's lack of will to address the decades-old festering sore.

Only on Tuesday, tribals chased away the police and forest staff in Mahabubabad district who tried to prevent them from preparing for podu cultivation. In June 2019, a forest range officer, C Anita, was beaten up mercilessly in Asifabad district by a TRS leader who was acting on behalf of tribals. Clashes have become commonplace now in several districts. Podu cultivation, in which forest land is cleared by burning to grow crops, is a means of livelihood for tribals. But the forest department has to protect the ecology and promote biodiversity. If lands are clearly demarcated, there would be no problem. But they are not, which is pitting tribals and the forest department officials against one another. Under the Recognition of Forest Rights Act, 2006, the state government has so far issued 94,774 pattas for 3,03,970 acres of forest land as against claims for 6,31,850 acres. It means that more than 3 lakh acres of land were left out, which has become a bone of contention between the tribals and the forest department.

Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao on several occasions said he would end the problem for good by conducting Praja Darbars in tribal villages. Even in the recent campaign for the by-election for the Nagarjuna Sagar Assembly seat, he made the same promise. But so far, nothing has happened. The forest cover, because of Haritha Haram, has increased by 3.67% to 66.66 lakh acres, which is just over 24% of the total 2.77 crore acres of the geographical area in the state. That is good news. But the chief minister will have to satisfy the tribals too. The issue must brook no delay. He has to issue pattas to the left-out tribals and then declare the rest of the land as one that belongs to the forest.

While the big picture looks promising, one has to drill a bit deeper to understand how much the increase in exports would translate into meaningful job creation

ANALYSING INDIA'S RECENT TRADE PERFORMANCE



SOUMYADIP SINHA

BISWAJIT DHAR

Professor, Centre for Economic Studies and Planning, School of Social Sciences, JNU

A couple of weeks ago, the Department of Commerce announced the heartening news that in the first quarter of the current financial year (April-June 2021), merchandise exports were $95 billion, the highest ever for a quarter in India's history. In fact, the earlier high of nearly $90 billion was recorded in the immediately preceding quarter, namely, January to March. Thus, this positive augury could help in a complete turnaround of exports in the current financial year, after it had slumped by over 7% to settle below the psychological barrier of $300 billion in 2020-21.

The government has set an ambitious export target of $400 billion for 2021-22 and if this target does materialise, the eagerly awaited economic turnaround could be well on its way. A sustained rise in exports would bring into play foreign demand as an important factor for stimulating the economy, which could compensate, to a degree, the persistent sluggishness in domestic demand.

The most obvious factor stimulating India's exports is the strong economic rebound being experienced by major economies, especially from the beginning of 2021. The US, India's largest export destination, grew by 6.4% in the first quarter of the year and recent forecasts suggest that the world's largest economy could grow by 10-11% in the second quarter. The Chinese economy had put behind the pandemic-induced downturn in 2020, and it began 2021 with an 18.3% growth in the first quarter. Though its second quarter growth has slowed down, the second largest economy still grew by almost 8%.

These growth numbers have been reflected in India's export numbers. Exports to the US grew by nearly 20% in January-March of 2021 on a year-on-year basis, while the corresponding figure for China was nearly 61%. Some may argue that January-March of 2020 was an abnormal period for China as it was in the midst of a severe coronavirus wave and strict lockdown was in place. However, even if the level of India's exports to China in a "normal" pre-Covid quarter is taken as the baseline, exports in January-March 2021 were significantly higher.

What is important to note here is that during the Financial Year 2020-21, India's exports to China increased almost 28%, the highest ever in a single year. As a result, China, along with Hong Kong, emerged as India's third largest export destination. But more importantly, the northern neighbour is now India's largest trade partner, also because imports from China had remained unchanged. Interestingly, these developments have occurred during a year in which anti-China sentiments were at their peak following the border skirmishes between the two countries. There is thus an important message that India-China trade trends send out—markets are seldom influenced by political headwinds and market forces would exploit every opportunity that exists.

A sustained rise in exports would bring into play foreign demand as an important factor for stimulating the economy ... But despite its robust growth, exports may not bring adequate benefits to the Indian economy simply because raw materials and intermediates are driving this growth, which is tantamount to exporting jobs

While the big picture regarding exports looks promising, it would be useful to drill a bit deeper to understand how much of the impulses provided by increasing exports would translate into meaningful job creation and, therefore, higher incomes. Data from the previous financial year, especially the last quarter of 2020-21, do provide the trends that are quite useful for making this assessment.

Although India's exports registered the second steepest fall in the past two decades, next only to the 15.5% decline in 2015-16, three sectors, namely, ores and minerals, agriculture and allied products, and base metals, primarily iron and steel, registered impressive export growth, of 41%, 24% and 16%, in that order. During the January-March quarter, exports of most sectors bounced back, but the aforementioned three sectors exporting raw materials and intermediate products registered even higher export growth, of 95.4%, 43.6% and 49.5%.

The composition of exports to China mirrors the big picture. India's expanding export basket of agricultural commodities to China included cereals, oil seeds and vegetable oils, while exports of iron ore, and iron and steel continued to be the two largest product categories, as they have been for several years. It may be noted that raw materials and intermediates accounted for over two-thirds of India's exports to China, while finished products have an overwhelming presence in India's imports.

Despite its robust growth, exports may not bring adequate benefits to the Indian economy simply because raw materials and intermediates are driving this growth, which is tantamount to exporting jobs. India's interests would have been much better served if the domestic manufacturing sector had utilised them, providing in the process the much-needed fillip to job creation in the country. The value of creating jobs at this juncture is extremely crucial as according to the Centre for Monitoring Indian Economy, India's employment rate has been hovering well below 40%.

E-FLOWERS ON DIGITAL GRAVES

SHRUTI SONAL

Bengaluru-based writer

While scrolling through my inbox a few days ago, I froze. After forcing myself a few glances at the screen, I shut my laptop and let myself break down. What was the email, you ask? A reminder from the flowers and gifts retailer Ferns n Petals that my mother's birthday was around the corner and I should give her a "gift of a lifetime". Last year, I sent flowers and a greeting card to her. She was in Delhi and I was 2,000 kilometres away in Bengaluru. I marvelled at the magic of e-commerce as I watched her open the parcel on video call, with her smile lighting up the screen. I also sent her a plant and a bird-shaped pot to keep it in. Another gift, a sea-green Carvaan radio, had arrived a week in advance. But this year, I could do no such thing. I felt an urge to reply to that email: I don't have an address to send her anything. She's gone, leaving behind the gifts.

The pot still sits in the balcony, along with all the others she had bought on her own. When the plants got the parcel containing the news of her death two months ago, they had ceased to be green, as if suddenly scorched by Delhi's relentless sun. Her chair, on which she would sit and talk to birds about things she couldn't say aloud, too became melancholic. Though made of plastic, it took on the shape of her absence. The plants are starting to reluctantly come back to life now. The chair too looks less hostile to the presence of others. Soon enough, it might allow someone else to sit on it as well.

The dust-laden Carvaan sounded the same when I finally switched it on. The first song that played was Ajeeb Dastaan Hai Yeh. Tears welled up in my eyes as Lata Mangeshkar sang the lines kisi ke itne paas ho ki sabse door ho gaye. You're so close to someone, that you've become distant from all others. It hit home. In the middle of the song, I got a notification on my phone. It was Google Photos, reminding me about a memory from May 10. It was a photo of the cremation. My mother's body was wrapped up in plastic, and so were we. The pandemic had robbed us of a last goodbye and stolen from us an essential part of processing grief: closure. My mother battled and held the upper hand against cancer for over eight years. Ever since the pandemic started, she had hardly stepped out of her house. On the day she went to get her first dose of vaccination, she contracted the virus. Two weeks and many sleepless nights later, she passed away, alone in a hospital. We were one of the lucky ones, we were told. We got access to a bed, oxygen cylinders and a ventilator at a time the country was scrambling for them. On May 10 alone, 3,754 people succumbed to the virus in India. The fact that my mother's death was part of this larger statistic didn't help. It made it all feel like a storm in which several houses were uprooted. Despite the collectiveness of it all, the destruction of each house means the destruction of a whole universe. I felt anger. But more than that, I felt uprooted.

Earlier, we could choose the time of the day to sit down with a photo album and allow ourselves a journey down memory lane. We could choose whom to meet and allow into our personal space at a vulnerable hour. Now, the past is everywhere online. Our memory and our grief, like much of the rest of our lives, is shaped by technology

Amidst it all, I found myself re-reading an online article I had read months ago. In the piece titled Notes on Grief, Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie writes about the news of her father's death. The news is like a "vicious uprooting", she says, yanking her away from the world she has known since childhood. The following lines stand out: "Grief is a cruel kind of education. You learn how ungentle mourning can be, how full of anger. You learn how glib condolences can feel. You learn how much grief is about language, the failure of language and the grasping for language."

The good and bad part about grief in today's time is that technology is at the centre of language, the failure of language and the grasping for language. Earlier, we could choose the time of the day to sit down with a photo album and allow ourselves a journey down memory lane. We could choose whom to meet and allow into our personal space at a vulnerable hour. Now, the past is everywhere: a text from the Fab India store I once bought her a sari from, urging me to come again on Mother's Day. An email from MakeMyTrip, asking me to resume booking tickets to Pondicherry, reminding me of a promise left unfulfilled to take her there, hold hands and watch the sunset over the sea. A reminder from Google Photos that two years ago, on this very day, I was sitting with her in a park, with hibiscus flowers blooming in the backdrop. On Facebook, where her profile exists, where she still exists, and people can comment their condolences. On most days, I find it perverse. On others, I think of it as a digital graveyard, a place where people can visit and offer metaphorical flowers. There's no escaping it now: Our memory and our grief, like much of the rest of our lives, is shaped, slaughtered and strewn back by technology. Perhaps, that is why I am writing this on paper. To remember her as she was: like a cup of hot chocolate on a chilly winter morning, like a gentle kiss on the forehead after a long day, like a paperback found on the shelf. And above all else, like home.

UP must follow suit

In view of the second Covid wave in the country, the Uttarakhand government's decision to cancel the Kanwar Yatra is a wise one. But Uttar Pradesh's move to allow the Yatra is not right. The country witnessed a spike in Covid cases during the Kumbh Mela. It is almost impossible for people to maintain Covid-appropriate behaviour in crowds. The yatra can wait but the life of people cannot be risked just to appease some sections. The UP government must learn a lesson from past mistakes.

Help migrants in Italy

This is with reference to Indian recalls horror after 6 yrs of slavery (July 15). Indian migrants in the rural areas of Latina in Italy are reported to be working in slave-like conditions: long working hours in the fields, low wages and no basic amenities—even no proper food. Urgent rescue operations have to be undertaken to bring succour to these hapless migrants. This is a humanitarian crisis that calls for concerted action by the community as a whole.

Protect FoE of filmmakers

The amendments in the Cinematograph Act proposed by the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting raise a lot of concerns. This is likely to have a significant impact on the freedom of expression of filmmakers. The decision taken by the Censor Board must be binding and authorities should respect it. For a proper functioning democracy, it is important to have a healthy and broad level of free speech. Each person has the option and liberty to like and dislike a film, and if offended, can take it to court.

Social evil deep-rooted

The Governor of Kerala participated in a protest against dowry in order to create awareness among the youth. This was unprecedented but a welcome gesture. Sadly the social evil is more deep-rooted than imagined and will raise its ugly head in some form or the other and create problems for married women. It is strange how men become spineless in front of their families. When the West is imitated in every other aspect, why don't they follow their system of marriage too?

Not good for Kerala

The Kerala government and Kitex group have blamed each other, leaving the public searching for the truth. But one thing is clear: A flourishing industry leaving the state, for whatever reason, does not augur well for the state. The administration seems to be taking it easy and has not done enough to stop the group from leaving.

Rewarding a killer

The news report Wanted Maoist top gun Ranjit gives up arms (July 15) says that the Telangana government has rewarded Maoist leader Ravula Ranjit with a sum of around ₹4 lakh for having surrendered to the police despite his involvement in the killing of at least 58 security personnel and destroying public property. Likewise, the government has been doling out wanted and unwanted sops to various sections of people. But mysteriously, it is showing no concern to rehabilitate thousands of beggars.

Ministry warns states against complacency as cases rise again

India witnesses increase in active cases after nearly two months, 'R' factor fresh concern

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA & HARPREET BAJWA @New Delhi/Chandigarh

ON a day India registered a rise of over 2,000 active Covid-19 cases in 24 hours, after nearly two months, the Union Health Secretary shot a letter to the states, warning that a complacency in maintaining norms, as is being witnessed in many states, may lead to surges.

The country on Thursday reported a net addition of 2,095 in active coronavirus cases to take its count to 432,041. Active Covid-19 cases in India had reached a peak of over 37 lakh on May 10, but the tally have been falling ever since — except for a small spike of about 500 cases on July 7.

"Violations of Covid norms have been observed in various parts of the country, especially in public transport, hill stations, markets etc," read the letter by Health Secretary Rajesh Bhushan to states. "Needless to say, such complacency at this juncture has the potential to result in another surge in Covid-19 cases."

Bhushan asked the states to adhere to the policy of test-track-treat-vaccinate in addition to maintaining Covid appropriate behaviour, saying that the country should not lose the invaluable momentum gained in its battle against the infectious disease, which created havoc in the second wave, especially in April and May this year.

The letter by Bhushan follows another one to the states from Union Home Secretary Ajay Bhalla on Wednesday, in which he had pointed out a rising 'R' factor in several states.

'R' factor refers to the reproduction rate which denotes the number of people getting infected by one infected person. If the value of the 'R' factor is above 1, it means that one infected person can spread the infection to more than one person, which suggests that the infection is spreading.

"You may be aware that any increase in R factor above 1.0 is an indicator of spread of Covid-19. Therefore, it is important that the authorities concerned shall be made responsible for ensuring Covid appropriate behaviour in all crowded places...," Bhalla's letter had said.

Biostatistician Bhramar Mukherjee from the Michigan University had calculated that as on July 10, India's 'R' factor had risen to 0.9 after touching a low of 0.65 last month and at least in seven states, including Kerala and several Northeast states, this value was above the danger level of 1.

This newspaper has found out that in Punjab, Haryana, Himachal Pradesh and Chandigarh too, 'R' factor has been increasing, giving rise to fresh worries about the Covid-19 pandemic rearing its head again.

Sources said that while 'R' value started to drop from the second week of May in the region and reached close to 0.50, it is now nearly 0.76 in Punjab, 0.84 in Haryana, 0.82 in Himachal Pradesh and 0.71 in Chandigarh.

Meanwhile, on the rise in active cases, health economist Rijo M John said that this figure has to be watched closely for the next few days. "It's too early to see a trend and if the number of active cases keep growing for three consecutive days, that would clearly be an alarm bell," he said, adding that in Kerala, the cases are showing a rising trend.

On the other hand, the 'R' factor was reported to be low in Rajasthan. Officials said it has been around 0.88 of late.

Western Maharashtra still a hub of active Covid-19 cases

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

IN many states across India, the second Covid-19 wave has almost subsided. But in Maharashtra, number of active cases are still more than one lakh. Pune, the IT and educational hub, continues to report an alarming number of cases.

Maharashtra has second-most active cases in India after Kerala. According to state health department data, there are 1,04,406 active cases. The highest of 17,106 are in Pune, followed by 16,630 in Thane and 13,087 in Sangli districts. Kolhapur has 12,826 active cases, while 10,528 active cases are in Mumbai. In active cases and positivity rate, western Maharashtra is leading. Of the 10 districts with highest active cases, five are from this region.

Last week, highest positivity was reported from the tribal district of Nadurbar (11.72%), followed by Kolhapur (9.85%), Sangli (9.20%) and Satara (8.23%). Interestingly, Mumbai's positivity rate (1.78%) last week was the lowest among all urban districts. There are 10 districts with positivity rates higher than the state's average positivity of 4.36%.

Of the total active cases, 37,898 patients are admitted in hospitals, which comes to around 35%. Over 70,000 (65%) patients have mild symptoms or are asymptomatic, while 15,552 (14.35%) are serious. A total of 5577 (5.15%) patients are admitted in ICU, 2242 (2.07%) are on ventilators and 3,335 (3.08%) on oxygen.

A senior minister from western Maharashtra, criticizing the Uddhav Thackeray-led Maha Vikas Aghadi, told this daily that the approach of the state government and its machinery is Mumbai-centric.

"Every decision the government has taken and implemented is keeping Mumbai as the centre point. This is a wrong approach. Due to this, Mumbai and Thane have been witnessing fewer cases, while the semi-urban areas of western Maharashtra are reporting a high number of cases," he said requested anonymity.

He added that earlier, the government used to conduct RT-PCR and rapid antigen tests, calculate the daily positive rate and on the basis of that, decide whether to relax or tighten restrictions. "Once Mumbai's positivity rate came down, the government revised the decision and said only RT-PCR tests will be done. For Mumbai, they used antigen tests to bring down the positivity rate and now they are asking others to use only RT-PCR. This is not fair. There are many decisions taken by the government that are Mumbai-centric. As result, rural Maharashtra is suffering and continuing to report more cases," the minister added.

India has highest number of unvaccinated children: Unicef

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

INDIA has the highest number of under-vaccinated or unvaccinated children worldwide at 3.5 million, said the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF).

There has been an increase of 1.4 million from the last two years. This comes amid the country reeling under the Covid-19 pandemic. Unprotected children are those who have not received any or few doses of their due vaccination.

"More than 3 million of these 'zero-dose children' in 2020 lived in India," the UNICEF said in a statement. South Asia recorded the highest number of children — almost 4.4 million — who have not received routine vaccination in the past 10 years, it said.

Globally, the UNICEF said, the data shows that just 10 countries account for 62% of all under or unvaccinated children. "India, particularly, was hit hard by the pandemic having the highest number of unprotected children worldwide at 3.5 million, an increase of 1.4 million compared with 2019, when the number was 1.2 million," said UNICEF.

"While health systems are strained by the COVID-19 response, we must be cautious in our fight against the pandemic so as not to interfere with decades of gain against other preventable diseases. We cannot afford to lose out on routine immunisation and letting vaccine-preventable diseases endanger children's health," said Yasumasa Kimura, officer-in-charge and deputy representative programmes, UNICEF India.

"UNICEF is partnering with the government of India to support continuity of essential health and immunisation services through planning, implementation, and monitoring of strategies to identify and vaccinate missed children. We also support generating awareness and confidence among communities to vaccinate their children and strengthening the cold chain for routine immunisation," he said.

SC to hear today case on release of prisoners in jail despite bail

New Delhi: The Supreme Court has taken suo motu cognizance of the delay in releasing convicts by prison authorities even after being granted bail by courts. A bench headed by Chief Justice of India NV Ramana, and Justices L Nageswara Rao and AS Bopanna will be hearing the case today. The top court will also take stock of the situation in relation to its May 8 order in another suo motu case of 2020, which was meant to decongest prisons in view of the spread of Covid-19 in the prisons. Taking note of the surge in cases, a CJI-led bench had passed a slew of directions to decongest prisons and ordered immediate release of prisoners who were granted bail or parole last year. Recently, the Supreme Court had granted immediate interim bail to 13 convicts lodged in Agra Central Jail. The order was passed on July 8, but the convicts walked out of jail after four days since the prison authorities stated that they did not receive the certified copy of the order by post. The convicts had spent between 14 and 20 years in prison despite being juveniles at the time of committing the crimes. But despite getting bail on July 8, they were not released until July 12, as prison authorities claimed that they had not received the bail orders.

Govt call for focus on paediatric care

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

WITH threats of a third Covid-19 wave looming large, the health ministry on Thursday asked the states to keep a sharp focus on health infrastructure developments, oxygen supply and ensure adequate beds for paediatric care in hospitals.

The instructions were issued during a review meeting of the preparations under "India Covid-19 Emergency Response and Health Systems Preparedness Package: Phase II". As announced by PM Narendra Modi on July 8, the states were approved an estimated fund of ₹23,123 crore for the period from July, 2021, to March, 2022. The Union government also asked states to conduct a quick gap analysis for various infrastructure components.

Final year MBBS students, interns and PG residents may be utilised under the supervision of the faculty as per the National Medical Commission guidelines for providing services of mild Covid management through tele-consultation, the Centre told states. Similarly, final year nursing graduates have been recommended to be utilised for full-time Covid duties at government facilities under the supervision of senior faculty.

It was also pointed out that procurement of drugs for effective management is an essential component. This guidance can be tweaked to local needs, while states must come up with their own assessments based on stocks and costs.

Phase-II of the Emergency Covid-19 Response Package has a central sector and centrally sponsored scheme components. The scheme aims at accelerating the health system preparedness for immediate responsiveness for early prevention, detection and management with focus on infrastructure development including paediatric care with measurable outcomes.

This will help strengthen decentralised public health actions and public health facilities in rural, peri-urban and tribal areas.

A statement from the health ministry said stakeholders were guided on policies on the aspects of Covid management which would help them in strengthening their infrastructure to streamline response. "Stakeholders have been asked to send their expenditure proposals at the earliest to enable expeditious approval and sanction from the Central government," the ministry said.

SKILL-MAPPING, INDUSTRY BEHIND EMPLOYMENT SURGE: UP MINISTER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

SKILL-MAPPING exercise of returning migrants in Uttar Pradesh during the first wave of Covid-19 and the state government's efforts to promote industries have led to lakhs of employment opportunities in the state. Just four lakh migrant workers returned to Uttar Pradesh during the second wave this year, compared to 40 lakh last year. It was mostly because most of them got some job in the state.

Highlighting the measures undertaken by the state government in the last four years to develop Uttar Pradesh into an 'Industrial Hub', UP Minister for Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME), Sidharth Nath Singh on Thursday said the identity of Uttar Pradesh has transformed . Due to the flexible attitude of the government towards industries, the state is emerging as the backbone of India's industrial hub.

"For the first time in the history of the state, loans worth ₹2.5 lakh crore were disbursed to the MSMEs in four years, due to which a thumping investment of about ₹4 lakh crore has come into the state and about 2.6 crore people have got direct and indirect employment opportunities," said the minister.

He went on to say that the MSME sector of Uttar Pradesh generates employment opportunities and has emerged as the backbone of industrialisation. In 2017, when the BJP government took over the reins of the state, a roadmap was prepared to fix the rural economy. Under which, the innovative 'ODOP' was rolled out in 2018. Common Facility Centers (CFCs) have been set up in 40 of the 75 districts in the state.

District-wise strategies have been prepared keeping in mind every district to promote traditional industries. Also, for the marketing and promotion of products, MoUs have been signed with online platforms like Amazon, Flipkart and eBay, said the minister.

Mamata to camp in Capital amid talks of anti-BJP front

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

WEST Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee said on Thursday she will visit Delhi during the upcoming Parliament session and hold meetings with leaders of many Opposition parties, triggering speculation that she is moving to form an anti-BJP coalition ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Sources in the ruling party said she would spend a week in the national capital starting from July 25.

Mamata Banerjee

''I could not visit Delhi due to the pandemic. I usually go there during Parliament sessions and meet leaders. Now that the Covid situation has improved, I will go there and meet some leaders. I will also seek to meet the President and the Prime Minister,'' Mamata said at the state secretariat.

Mamata, whose party secured a thumping victory in the West Bengal Assembly elections and shattered the BJP's dream of winning the state, has urged all the non-BJP parties to come together to take on the saffron camp.

The buzz about the formation of a third front grew after election strategist Prashant Kishor, whom Mamata hired after her party's debacle in the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, met NCP leader Sharad Pawar twice and held a meeting with the Congress high-command comprising recently.

Though Mamata said there is nothing unusual about her trip to Delhi, sources in the party said she has timed her visit to coincide with the Parliament session so that she could meet senior leaders of the Opposition.

"It will be her first face-to-face meeting with many non-BJP leaders since the Assembly elections,'' said a TMC leader.

"Mamata di has grown in stature after defeating the BJP and is now a leading voice against the ruling party on the national stage. Now she wants to reach out to anti-BJP political parties at the national level ahead of the 2024 general elections,'' he added.

He said Mamata will, in all probability, meet Congress president Sonia Gandhi, Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav, her Delhi counterpart and Aam Admi Party convenor Arvind Kejriwal and NCP Sharad Pawar during the visit.

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday hailed the leadership of Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, putting an end to all speculations about a leadership change in the state.

Addressing a gathering at the Banaras Hindu University (BHU) after laying the foundation stone of about 205 development projects/works worth ₹1,583 crore, Modi lauded efforts of Yogi Adityanath-led UP government, especially in combating the second wave of the Covid pandemic and making the state safe for women, cracking down on mafia and terrorist groups.

"UP under Yogiji's leadership has combated the second Covid-19 wave effectively. The state has emerged as a leader in the country in terms of testing and vaccination. We've announced ₹23,000 crore-plus special emergency response package for Covid-19 preparedness and hope that the state will benefit from it," the PM said. Praising the CM's efforts to improve the state's law and order situation, the PM said the BJP government has ensured that the rule of law prevails, and women feel safe outdoors. "Today there is Kanoon Raj (rule of law) in UP and the Mafia Raj and Aatankwad are under control. Parents of girls no longer live in fear, as those who troubled girls and women cannot hide from the law anymore," he maintained. The PM lashed out at the previous government for alleged corruption and nepotism. "Unlike the governments of the past, which ran on bhrashtachar (corruption) and bhai bhatijawad (nepotism), the present government in the state is running with Vikasvaad (commitment to development)."

He was particularly critical of Akhilesh Yadav-led Samajwadi Party government. "We got the mandate to serve the country in 2014. Then also similar efforts were being made from Delhi and funds being released for UP's development, but those development works were blocked by Lucknow."

Amarinder sore as Sidhu may lead state unit

RICHA SHARMA AND HARPREET BAJWA @New Delhi/Chandigarh

THE Congress appears to be ramming a peace deal down the throat of an unwilling Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh, letting him be the party's CM face in the upcoming state Assembly election while elevating rebel Navjot Singh Sidhu as the head of the party's state unit.

According to the truce formula, the state unit will also have two working presidents, one a Hindu and the other a Scheduled Caste face. Also, Amarinder might be appointed chairman of the party's campaign committee while his bete noire Partap Singh Bajwa PS Bajwa is likely to be the manifesto committee chairman. An upset Amarinder, who has been the face of the party in the state for several years and enjoys a good rapport with Congress chief Sonia Gandhi, is said to have already conveyed his strong disapproval, adding he may opt out of contesting the polls if Sidhu is made the state unit chief.

During his meeting with Sonia on July 6 over organisational changes, he had made it clear that making Sidhu's appointment as the state unit chief would be disastrous for the party in the upcoming elections. Leaders from the state wondered how the peace formula would work since Sidhu and the CM are not on the same page on many issues. Congress general secretary in-charge of Punjab, Harish Rawat, said the final decision would be announced in two-three days. "The party will be going into elections with Amarinder as CM . Sidhu is the future of the state." Sidhu had hinted at joining the AAP if not being made the Pradesh Congress Committee chief.

WhatsApp banned 2 mn Indian users

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

WHATSAPP banned two million Indian accounts, and received 345 grievance reports between May 15 and June 15, its first monthly compliance report said on Thursday.

The monthly compliance report is a must under the newly notified IT Rules for digital platforms with over five million users. The rules also make it compulsory to mention the details of complaints received and actions taken. According to WhatsApp, a large chunk of the bans—over 95 per cent—were due to unauthorised use of automated or bulk messaging or 'spam'.

"We expect to publish subsequent editions of the report 30-45 days after the reporting period to allow sufficient time for data collection and validation,"the report said. The number of accounts banned have risen significantly since 2019 as the sophistication of systems has gone up, the company said. "So we are catching more accounts even as we believe there are more attempts to send bulk or automated messages," it added. "Our top focus is preventing accounts from sending harmful or unwanted messages at scale. We maintain advanced capabilities to identify the accounts that send a high or abnormal rate of messages and banned two million accounts in India," the company said.

Law of ruler in Didi's turf, says stinging NHRC report

PRONAB MONDAL @Kolkata

SQUARELY holding the Mamata Banerjee administration responsible for the post-poll violence in West Bengal, the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) in its final report observed that the situation in the state is a manifestation of 'Law of Ruler' instead of 'Rule of Law'.

The report, submitted before a five-judge bench of the Kolkata High Court two days ago, recommended that grievous offences like murder and rape be handed over to the CBI and the cases be tried outside the state. The probe panel, set up on the direction of the Kolkata HC, also observed that the spate of violence in the state shows a pernicious 'politico-bureaucratic-criminal nexus', which it termed "a deadly combination" that has larger national security implications as Bengal is a border state. According to the panel, violence was neither sporadic nor random as the attacks were targeted at sections of people who had links with other political parties. The report named notorious criminals as well as TMC functionaries including forest minister Jyotipriya Mullick for the attacks.

Reacting angrily to NHRC's caustic remarks, Mamata described the report a 'distorted one' that was written as part of a conspiracy against the state. She labelled NHRC's report as a reflection of the Centre' political vendetta to malign the state's image. "There is no rule of law in BJP-ruled Uttar Pradesh. How many commissions visited UP?" she asked.

The NHRC report had made caustic remarks about the failure of the administration in maintaining law and order situation in the state. The panel had made 311 spot inquiries and found that in 60% of the cases, FIRs were not registered and police resorted to dilution of charges in 27% cases by using milder sections in law.

Uttarakhand postal circle gears up for doorstep delivery of Gangajal

VINEET UPADHYAY @Dehradun

As the Kanwar Yatra stands cancelled for the second consecutive year due to Covid-19 pandemic, Uttarakhand postal circle is all geared up to deliver the holy 'Gangajal' to the doorsteps of thousands of devotees across the country.

"We are equipped to supply and deliver the 'Gangajal' anywhere in the country at the doorstep of the devotees. We have the resources, the means and a very robust mechanism as we have been doing this for years now," Sunil Kumar Rai, director of postal services, Uttarakhand told this newspaper. Earlier, this week Uttarakhand CM announced the cancellation of the yatra citing Covid-19. In such a situation, the services of the postal circle will assume more importance than ever.

From April 2021 to June 2021, the circle has supplied total 45,648 bottles of Gangajal across the country. In the year 2020, from April-June, a total of 42,228 bottles or 10,572 liters of Gangajal was delivered across India. In the year 2019, it delivered a total of 42,960 bottles of Gangajal between April and June. Meanwhile, the state government has promised to deliver the holy water at devotees' doorstep through tankers.

The district administration of Haridwar is planning to transport Gangajal in tankers to the neighboring UP from where a large number of pilgrims had registered for the yatra. "The plans are afoot to supply Gangajal in tankers and we are in talks with neighbouring states to avoid large number of gathering in Haridwar," said C Ravishankar, district magistrate, Haridwar.

The department's 'Ganga Prahris' collect the water from Gangotri. The water then undergoes purification through the process of sedimentation before it's bottled.

The holy water is then supplied to around 3,000 post offices across 22 postal cricles of the country. More than 30 people work over 12 hours daily to ensure that the holy water is delivered to the door step.

Meanwhile, Uttarakhand police is gearing up to ensure that no Kanwar Yatri enters the Haridwar.

State police officials said forces will be deployed on border with Uttar Pardesh to ensure that pilgrims don't enter from the state.

Can't deny jobs to those who refuse vaccination: HC

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

THE Manipur High Court on Thursday held that it would be illegal to deny jobs to people who are un-vaccinated.

"Restraining people, who are yet to be vaccinated from opening institutions, organisations, factories, shops, etc., or denying them their livelihood by linking employment, be it NREGA job card holders or workers in government or private projects, to their getting vaccinated, would be illegal on the part of the state, if not unconstitutional," a two-judge bench of Chief Justice Sanjay Kumar and Justice Kh Nobin Singh ruled.

Such a measure would trample upon the freedom of an individual to choose whether or not to get vaccinated, the bench observed.

The court was hearing a PIL challenging a notification of Manipur's home department that proposed to prioritise vaccinated people for government jobs.

The notification said while opening up, the government, without compromising public health safety, considered it prudent to prioritise the opening of institutions, organisations, factories, shops, markets, private offices, etc., where employees and workers were vaccinated against Covid-19. The government further stated that this would also apply to NREGA job card holders and workers of government/ private projects.

The court observed that the "prescriptions" appeared to make vaccination mandatory.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

Over 40 dead, dozens missing as severe floods strike Europe

Storms across parts of Germany & Belgium cause rivers to breach banks; many buildings collapse, cars swept away

BERLIN

MORE than 40 people have died and dozens of people were missing on Thursday in Germany and neighbouring Belgium after heavy flooding turned streams and streets into raging torrents, sweeping away cars and causing buildings to collapse.

Storms across parts of western Europe in recent days caused rivers and reservoirs to burst their banks, resulting in several flash floods overnight as rain-soaked soil failed to absorb any more water.

Authorities in the western German region of Euskirchen said eight deaths had been reported there in connection with the floods. Rescue operations were hampered by the fact that phone and internet connections were down in parts of the county, which is southwest of Cologne.

Officials said 18 people had died in Ahrweiler county, south of Euskirchen. Up to 70 people were reported missing after several houses collapsed overnight in the village of Schuld in the Eifel, a volcanic region of rolling hills and small valleys southwest of Cologne.

Dozens more were trapped on the roofs of their houses awaiting rescue. Authorities used inflatable boats and helicopters, and the German army deployed 200 soldiers to assist in the rescue operation.

> Malu Dreyer, governor of Rhineland-Palatinate, Germany

"There are people dead, there are people missing, there are many who are still in danger," the governor of Rhineland-Palatinate state, Malu Dreyer, told the regional parliament. "We have never seen such a disaster. It's really devastating."

German Chancellor Angela Merkel said she was distraught by the news of the floods. "My sympathy goes to the relatives and of the dead and missing," she said during a trip to Washington.

Across the border in Belgium, the Vesdre river broke its banks and sent masses of water churning through the streets of Pepinster, close to Liege, its destructive power bringing down some buildings.

"Several homes have collapsed," mayor Philippe Godin told RTBF network. It was unclear whether all inhabitants had been able to escape unhurt. Several Belgian media reported that four people died in eastern Verviers. No independent confirmation was immediately available. Major highways were inundated in the south and east of Belgium, and the railway service said all traffic was stopped.

European Union (EU) Commission President Ursula von der Leyen pledged to help those affected. "My thoughts are with the families of the victims of the devastating floods in Belgium, Germany, Luxembourg and the Netherlands and those who have lost their homes," she tweeted. "The EU is ready to help."

The full extent of the damage across the region was still unclear after many villages were cut off by floodwater and landslides that made roads impassable. Videos posted on social media showed cars floating down streets and houses partly collapsed in some places.

Many of the dead were only discovered after floodwaters began to recede again. Police said four people died in separate incidents after their basements were flooded in Cologne, Kamen and Wuppertal, where authorities warned that a dam threatened to burst.

Authorities in the Rhine-Sieg county south of Cologne ordered the evacuation of several villages below the Steinbachtal reservoir amid fears the dam there could also break. Two firefighters died during rescue operations in North-Rhine Westphalia, Germany's most populous state. Governor Armin Laschet paid tribute to them and pledged swift help for individuals and businesses affected by the floods. "We don't know the extent of the damage yet, but we won't leave the communities, the people affected alone," he said. AP

6 dead, 2 missing as rain wreaks havoc in Turkey

ANKARA

AT LEAST six people have been killed and two people are missing after heavy rains hit Turkey's northeastern Black Sea coast, triggering floods and landslides, Turkey's health minister said Thursday. The downpour struck the tea-growing province of Rize, sweeping away cars and causing a number of houses to collapse. Video images from the region also showed mudslides destroying tea plantations.

A 75-year-old woman was found dead amid the debris of her three-story house in Rize's Muradiye district, state-run Anadolu Agency reported.

Rescuers also recovered the bodies of three people who died after mudslides partly destroyed a wooden house.

The victims also included the head administrator of the nearby village of Asmaliirmak, who died after being swept away by the raging waters.

Rescue teams sent to the region were searching for two people who remain unaccounted for, Health Minister Fahrettin Koca said.

The private DHA news agency said sniffer dogs and divers were aiding the search-and-rescue mission. The heavy rains also shut down access to dozens of villages and cut off power supplies, it said. AP

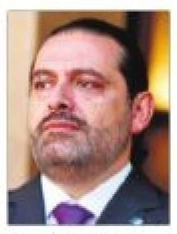
The cause of the flood is under investigation. AP

Lebanon crisis deepens as PM-designate steps down

BEIRUT

LEBANON'S Prime Minister-designate Saad Hariri stepped down Thursday, nine months after he was named to the post by the parliament, citing 'key differences' with the country's president.

The development is likely to plunge the country further into chaos and uncertainty. Lebanon is going through an unprecedented economic crisis, described by the World Bank as one of the worst in the world in 150 years. "It is clear that we will not be able to agree with the president," Hariri said, after a meeting with President Michel Aoun. Hariri met Wednesday with Aoun after weeks of a stalemate in renewed efforts to resolve the political deadlock and following a quick trip to Cairo, a close ally.



Saad Hariri

He proposed a new 24-minister Cabinet and said he expected a response from Aoun by Thursday. There were reports this was a last-ditch effort by Hariri.

The disagreement was over who has more clout over the next Cabinet, which would oversee critical reforms and elections. The two sides have since been trading blame over who was responsible for the deadlock.

Immediately after news broke of Hariri's stepping down, the Lebanese pound hit a new low, selling for 20,000 to the dollar on the black market.

Lebanon's economy has contracted by over 20% in 2020, poverty has deepened with more than 55% of the population living below the poverty line. AP

Bus blast: 'Explosives confirmed, terrorism can't be ruled out'

Islamabad: Pakistan on Thursday said traces of explosives were "confirmed" in a preliminary probe into a bus blast that killed 13 people, including nine Chinese nationals, and an act of terrorism cannot be ruled out. Information and Broadcasting Minister Fawad Chaudhry's comments came a day after the all-weather allies, Pakistan and China, offered conflicting views on the possible causes of the fatal crash. While China termed the mishap as a bomb attack, Pakistan stated that the blast was caused by a gas leak. The incident took place on Wednesday in Dasu area of Upper Kohistan district of the restive Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province where Chinese engineers and construction workers are helping Pakistan build a dam, which is part of the $60 billion China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC). PTI

The Catholic Church in Sri Lanka wrote to the president on Tuesday raising concerns about the government's handling of the suicide bombings and asking it to investigate alleged links between intelligence personnel and the group that carried out the attacks. Two local Muslim groups that had declared allegiance to the Islamic State group carried out six coordinated attacks on churches and leading tourist hotels, killing 269 people. AP

Clash in UK Parliament over bypoll leaflet with Johnson-Modi handshake

LONDON

UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson and Opposition Leader Keir Starmer clashed in the House of Commons over a controversial byelection leaflet, which had been branded 'divisive' and 'anti-India' by Indian diaspora groups in Britain. During a heated debate over the issue of racism at the Prime Minister's Questions (PMQs) session on Wednesday, Johnson held up the leaflet showing him in a handshake with Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the G7 Summit in 2019 with the message 'Don't risk a Tory MP who is not on your side'.

He demanded the Labour Leader retract the leaflet used at the recent by-election for the constituency of Batley and Spen in northern England, a seat held by the Opposition party.

"May I ask him now to retract this leaflet I have here that was produced by the Labour party during the Batley and Spen by-election, which was condemned by his own MPs as 'dog-whistle racism'," Johnson said.

However, the Labour Leader skirted around the remark to continue his tirade against the ruling Conservative Party for not fighting back against racist abuse faced by England's footballers on the pitch. "Either the PM is with the England players in their stand against racism or he can defend his own record. But he cannot have it both ways," said Starmer.

"We love and admire the England side and what they did. They represent the best of our country. Nobody defends booing the England side," Johnson responded.

The clash re-ignited the row over the controversial by-poll leaflet, which had caused outrage from within the Labour Party ranks and widely across Indian diaspora groups. "Very disappointing and disturbing that Labour Leader Keir Starmer refuses to condemn 'racist, anti-Indian' leaflet published by Labour during recent Batley and Spen byelection — an issue raised by prime minister Boris Johnson at PMQs," tweeted Professor Manoj Ladwa, entrepreneur and former member of Modi's electoral campaign team. PTI

US, Afghanistan's neighbours to address Taliban surge

ISLAMABAD

A Taliban surge has put the insurgent force in control of key border posts, opened up fresh sources of revenue and rattled many of Afghanistan's neighbours. In the Uzbek capital of Tashkent, a two-day regional meeting that begins on Thursday was originally supposed to deal with "connectivity" in South and Central Asia, encouraging trade ties and transport issues.

But it has morphed into a high-level gathering of senior US, Russian and EU officials that most certainly will be consumed with Afghanistan and the impact of the rapidly advancing Taliban.In recent weeks, the Taliban have gained control of key border posts with neighbors Iran, Pakistan, Uzbekistan and Tajikistan. In many instances, Afghanistan's security forces and military have put up little to no resistance, after often being left without resupplies or reinforcements. Two weeks ago, more than 1,000 Afghan military men fled across the border into Tajikistan. The Taliban did not pursue them.

The Taliban have also issued statements, including from their senior leader Mullah Abdul Ghani Baradar, who negotiated last year's deal with the US, assuring Afghanistan's neighbours they have nothing to fear from the insurgent movement.

The Taliban surge comes as the US and NATO all but wind up their nearly 20 years in Afghanistan. Earlier this week, the US Central Command said the American withdrawal wa 95% complete, after President Joe Biden's mid-April announcement that America was ending the "forever war." The Tashkent meeting will have representatives of US Homeland Security as well as Washington's special Afghan peace envoy, Zalmay Khalilzad. Also attending are Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov and European Union foreign policy chief Josep Borrell, as well as Afghan President Ashraf Ghani and Pakistani Prime Minister Imran Khan.

Stranded people gather near a border crossing between Afghanistan and Pakistan in Chaman. Pakistan border guards used tear gas to disperse hundreds of people who tried to storm the border crossing on Thursday | AFP

The goals of the gathering are now unclear. Rather than the original agenda of highways and railroads, the powers are likely looking for some regional consensus over what a final peace can look like and action from all the players to push that through. The fear is not only over Taliban gains; without a peace deal, Afghanistan's many warlords may turn to a new, destructive civil war among themselves to seek power or preserve their interests. AP

EYES ON PERMANENT MEMBERSHIP

India will make best of 2-year term in UNSC: Foreign secy Shringla

NEW YORK

INDIA will make the best of its two-year term in the UN Security Council and underscore that it establishes the right to be a permanent member of the 15-nation body, Foreign Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla has said, as the country prepares to assume Presidency of the Council with focus on maritime security, counter-terrorism and peacekeeping.

"Next month, we have one of the most landmark events in our engagement in the UN. We will be president of the UN Security Council in the month of August," Shringla said.

"We will make the best of our two-year term in the Security Council. We will leave our mark in the Council and our point is to say that India really, by its contribution, establishes the right to be a permanent member of UN Security Council," he said.

Shringla arrived in New York on Wednesday and will participate in two high-level events in the Security Council to be held under the current French Presidency. He will also meet UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres Thursday and address the Council briefing on Libya.

India is Chair of the Libyan Sanctions Committee. Shringla's visit comes as India prepares to assume the Presidency of the powerful 15-nation UN body next month.

Speaking at a welcome event organised for him in the city by Jaipur Foot USA and Gracious Givers Foundation USA, Shringla said India's Permanent Representative to the UN Ambassador T S Tirumurti has arranged new and very significant initiatives in the areas of maritime security, counter-terrorism and UN peacekeeping during India's upcoming presidency.

"These are all subjects that are important to us and very unique initiatives are being organised " during India's presidency of the Council, he said, adding that the presidency will have "very high-level participation" from the country.

"We are there to forge consensus, understanding. We are the bridge between countries in maintaining international peace and security. That is no small achievement if you consider the fact that we are not permanent members of the Council," he said.

Speaking about the second wave of the Covid pandemic in the country, Shringla said "the Delta variant has been devastating." He noted that up till the second wave, India had been helping countries and distributed over 66 million doses of vaccines to nations all over the world and provided hydroxychloroquine and essential pharmaceutical products to over 150 countries. PTI

History will look at current reforms as strong as those of 1991, says CEA

Hails govt push for privatisation, asset monetisation, capex-driven growth and PLI scheme

DIPAK MONDAL @New Delhi

THE government has taken enough measures in the past one year to ensure that when the pandemic is over, the country's economy grows by over 7% , the chief economic advisor to the government Krishnamurthy Subramanian said in an interaction with the New Indian Express.

"For FY23, we expect the growth to be close to 7%, and from thereon, it will accelerate further as the impacts of the reforms are seen on the ground," says the CEA.

He says that India was the only country, which launched a slew of reforms during the pandemic, and that too, big-ticket reforms. The reforms that he enlisted include the privatisation and asset monetisation push of the government, capex-driven growth, opening up of sectors like defence, cryptography, mining, PLI scheme, labour and farm reforms.

"When you put all these reforms together, and the 135% increase in healthcare spending and 35% increase in capex, the overall investment in the economy will go up significantly because of the crowding in effect and so will the productivity," he says.

For FY23, we expect the growth to be close to 7%, and from thereon, it will accelerate further as the impacts of the reforms are seen on the ground

Krishnamurthy Subramanian, CEA

Subramanian feels when history looks at this period, these reforms would be considered as strong as the 1991 reforms.

On the immediate impact of the second wave on the economy, the CEA says that the impact of the second wave is much lower than the first wave and hence he believes that the GDP growth in the current financial year would not be significantly lower than the Budget estimate.

The government has in the Budget estimated 10.5% GDP growth, which Subramanian feels was on the conservative side, unlike IMF which had estimated 12.5%.

He termed the current financial year as a very important year for privatisation as the government is pushing through privatisation of entities like BPCL, Concor, and public listing of insurance behemoth LIC during the year.

On privatisation of Air India, he said though the money that would come from Air India may not be large, it is important from a signaling perspective as it would show the government's intent of getting out of business that it had no business being in the first place.

When asked if inflation would play a spoiler in India's recovery, the CEA said that the over 6% inflation in the past two months were primarily because of supply-side constraints due to restrictions on economic activities. However, he feels that since the economic impact of the second wave was much lower, the inflation would start moderating soon.

Justifying the high fuel taxes, the CEA said that while evaluating the cause of high fuel prices one must also keep in mind the fact that India is not the only country where taxes account for 60% or more of the total fuel price. He said countries like the UK, Germany, Brazil, etc also have similar kind of taxes, and that taxes in India are in no way higher than those in other countries. He also blamed the rise in crude oil prices – from less than $30 to $75 – for the high oil prices.

Wipro races ahead of peers, posts 12.4% Q1 revenue growth

BISMAH MALIK @Bengaluru

INDIA'S third largest software services exporter Wipro outperformed its industry peers by posting the strongest revenue growth in Q1 FY 22 than the last 38 quarters with 12.4% revenue growth sequentially at ₹18,252 crore. In comparison, Infosys revenue grew by 6% q-o-q whereas Tata Consultancy Services reported revenue growth at 3.9%.

Wipro is also expecting a revenue growth rate at 26-28% for H1, FY22, higher than the industry average. For the Q2, FY22, the IT firm has given a revenue guidance of 5-7%.

The operating margin at 18.8%, below 220 basis points compared to last quarter, according to Wipro's Chief Financial Officer Jatin Dalal, was impacted due to salary hikes, skill-based bonuses as well as $1.6-bilion acquisition of London based consulting firm Capco, which was completed during the June quarter. Dalal told The New Indian Express that the financing for the Capco deal was made possible due to $750-million overseas debt financing whereas the rest of the funding came through internal approvals. The tech firm's net profit rose by 8.7% to ₹3,232 crore compared to ₹2,811 crore in last quarter.

Rising attritions remains a concern, according to the CEO, Thierry Delaporte, which hit 15.5% for the quarter even as there was a net addition of 12,000 employees during the period."Engaging and investing in quality talent will continue to remain our focus and we will ensure that the talent concern doesn't impact our supply side on projects," he added. The company has also embarked on a robust hiring plan with 33% more freshers being onboarded during FY22 compared to FY21. "We will be hiring 6,000 freshers during Q2, FY22 and offer 30,000 more jobs to college graduates next financial year. We are committed to the supply side not being a constraint for our projects," Saurabh Govil, Chief Human Resources Officer, said.

Wipro's top client acquisitions worth over $50 million was a key feature for the June quarter. The company added 129 new clients during Q1, almost double than the last quarter with a healthy revenue jump sequentially from client geographies including Americas, Europe and Asia Pacific.

Banking and other financial services grew by 23%, consumer by 14%, communications by 12.4%, energy and natural resources by 11.8% whereas health and manufacturing showed marginal growth and de-growth respectively.

Engaging and investing in quality talent will continue to remain our focus and we will ensure that the talent concern doesn't impact our supply side on projects —Thierry Delaporte, CEO, Wipro

Govt puts LIC divestment on fast track, seeks legal advisor, book managers

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE centre on Thursday invited request for proposal to hire legal adviser, registrar and advertising agency for the divestment of Life Insurance Corporation, as it intends to complete its listing process by March.

According to Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM), request for proposal (RFP) is for legal adviser, advertising agency, book running lead managers and registrar for LIC IPO.

The bid submission end date is August 5, and the bid opening date is August 6. "Not more than one bid shall be submitted by one bidder or bidders having business relationship," as per the official circular.

The government has already brought in the required legislative amendments in the LIC Act for the proposed IPO.

The government has already appointed Deloitte and SBI Caps as pre-IPO transaction advisors.

This week the Cabinet approved an initial public offering of Life Insurance Corporation (LIC). Earlier DIPAM secretary Tuhin Kant Pandey said that the government intends to complete the listing of LIC by March and the size of the LIC IPO will be larger than any previous issue. He added that the merchant bankers for the initial public offering would be appointed soon.

In the current financial year, government aims to mop-up ₹1.75 lakh crore from minority stake sales and privatisation. Of the ₹1.75 lakh crore, ₹1 lakh crore is to come from selling the government's stakes in public sector banks and financial institutions. The remaining ₹75,000 crore would come as CPSE disinvestment receipts. So far the government has barely managed to mop-up ₹3,994 crore from sale of SUUTI stake in Axis Bank and around ₹3,700 crore has come in from the share sale in NMDC, among others.

₹75K-CR GST COMPENSATION TRANSFERRED TO STATES

ANURADHA SHUKLA @New Delhi

TO help states' finances and boost expenditure to aid economic recovery, the Centre on Thursday transferred a single installment of ₹75,000 crores to states as back to back loan paid for compensation for Goods and Services Tax (GST) shortfall.

The move will not only help states to manage Covid-19 situation better, but also boost expenditure, thus helping in boosting the economy. Also, this will put an end to the delay in GST compensation, which had become matter of contention between the Centre and the state since last one year.

In a statement released on Thursday, finance ministry said that this is almost half of ₹1.59 lakh crore Centre had agreed to transfer to states as part of GST compensation and this is in addition to ₹1 lakh crore being transferred in instalments from GST cess collection. So, the total GST compensation is ₹2.59 lakh crore, which will be paid to them in the current financial year.

The balance amount will be released in the second half of 2021-22 in steady instalments.

According to the finance ministry, "The release of ₹75,000 crore is funded from borrowings of GoI in 5-year securities, totalling ₹68,500 crore and 2-year securities for ₹6,500 crore issued in the current financial year, at an weighted average yield of 5.60 and 4.25% per annum respectively".

It claimed that all eligible states and Union Territories have agreed to the arrangements of funding of the compensation shortfall under the back-to-back loan facility.

The finance ministry further clarified that even when it is front loading the installment, there will be no change in the government borrowings.

Meanwhile experts claim that while the move is welcome, this would necessitate extension of levy of cess beyond 2022.

"The release of the compensation shortfall amounts committed to states would alleviate the fiscal position of states; however the recovery of the amounts borrowed to make the payments would necessitate the extension of the period during which the compensation cess is levied beyond 2022," said MS Mani, Senior Director, Deloitte India.

Mumbai and Pune lead housing mrkt in H1: Report

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

HOUSING sales surged 67% year-on-year (YoY) during the January-June (H1CY2020) period to 99,416 units across India's top eight cities on better demand primarily from two Maharashtra cities- Mumbai and Pune, according to real estate consultant Knight Frank.

The two cities together constituted over 45% of the total sales amongst key markets. While residential sales in Mumbai grew by 53% YoY in H1CY2021 to 28,607 units, in Pune it grew by 74% to 17, 474 units.

"These two markets were given their orbital velocity by the Maharashtra government's decision to lower stamp duty rates for a limited period," the property consultant said.

Maximum growth in sales was seen in Hyderabad market as sales in the cyber hub city grew by 150% YoY to 11,974 units. Hyderabad was followed by Delhi NCR (11,474 units) and Chennai 5751 (units).

Knight Frank said that while residential sales started to show a resurgence, the momentum got impacted by the second wave of the pandemic towards the end of March 2021.

Fortunately, the second wave, despite its extremely morbid potency, was less severe on the residential real estate market, it added. However, housing sales this year (99,416) is still 25.42% lower than 1,33,317 units that were sold in the first six months of 2019, the pre-pandemic year.

Knight Frank India Chairman and Managing Director Shishir Baijal said, "We expect that we will do better than 2020 in housing sales." With stable property prices and historically low interest rates on home loans, sales momentum to continue during the second half of this year, he added.

Ban on Mastercard to hit RBL, Yes Bank

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India's decision to bar Mastercard from adding new customers in India would impact the pace of issuance of debit and credit cards in the immediate and medium term. The banks and financial institutions which are likely to be impacted most include RBL Bank, Yes Bank and Bajaj Finserv.

According to a report by Nomura, RBL Bank, Yes Bank and Bajaj Finserv are most impacted as their entire card schemes are allied with Mastercard. HDFC Bank also has 60% of its card schemes tied to Mastercard, Amex and Diners, while for Axis Bank and ICICI bank, this is about 35-36%, says the Nomura report.

RBL Bank, in a statement issued on Thursday, has said that the bank's current run rate of around 1 lakh new credit card issuances per month could potentially be impacted till there is clarity from the regulator on issuing new credit cards on the Mastercard network or till the technical integration with Visa is complete.

RBL Bank expects to start issuance of credit cards on the Visa payment network post the technology integration which is expected to take 8 to 10 weeks.

According to the statement, RBL Bank has around 3 million credit card customers and is the fifth largest credit card issuer in the country with 5% market share.

A Yes Ban spokesperson, meanwhile, told The New Indian Express that for new credit card issuance, the bank is evaluating migration to other platforms for seamless transition.

THE SHOE-STOPPER

Sprints to middle and long-distance, a slew of records are falling. Somehow, it's not just about scientific training or genetics, focus is on super spikes that athletes wear

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

THE second week of June was a watershed moment for the women's 10000m event on track. Sifan Hassan smashed the world record set by Ethiopia's Almaz Ayana on June 6. Hassan's new mark of 29:06.82 took almost 10 sec off 29:17.45 set by the Ethiopian in 2016. Some 48 hours later, Letesenbet Gidey went even faster. Her time was 29:01.03. The pattern followed a wider narrative that has been seen in competitive endurance racing this past year.

Sample this: since August 2020 alone, new times have been set in five endurance disciplines. Men's and women's 5000m and 10000m on track and men's and women's 5000m, 10000m and half-marathons on road.

Why? The athletic community is beginning to refer to them as super spikes, game-changing shoe-technology that is allowing athletes to go faster than ever before. Even if World Athletics placed new rules in 2019 to ensure records don't fall once a week, it has not stopped.

The other part of the equation is athletes on the wrong side of 30 going faster than ever before. The example of Shelly Ann-Fraser Pryce setting a new personal best (her 10.63s she clocked on June 5 is the second fastest run by a woman) in the 100m is an apt example.

But athletes don't want to talk about the technology that's making them go like flash across the track. "I don't know why they get crazy about technology," Hassan told the media before the Diamond League meeting in Florence in June. "All of us have new phones, before no one had telephones, so we have to go back to the radio to listen? What's wrong with you people, just move on. We are a new generation, chill out, don't just complain, just be positive, everybody, have fun."

Joshua Cheptegei, the men's 10000m world record holder was more intimate but adopted same attitude. "I believe technology is changing the world," he said in Florence. "We are not living in the 1990s, we have to accept new innovations, new technologies, we have to go and live, it's about the comfort that allows you to reach your dreams."

One can argue that the latest chapter in this arms race was the result of a dream. A sub two hour marathon. Wearing one of Nike's futuristic shoes (called the AlphaFly), Eliud Kipchoge, one of the greatest marathoners in history, achieved the feat in 2019. Even though it didn't count as a world record as it was a heavily controlled event, the technology had helped a human in breaking down one of the last great physical barriers known in all of sport.

Even if marathon and sprint shoes are different, it was only a matter of time before companies started to tweak it within the rules to help elite runners go faster. Some have called it 'technological' or 'mechanical doping'. Researcher Wooter Hoogkamer, who has co-authored a landmark paper on the subject of marathoners using advanced spikes, is more cautious.

"Different than marathon shoes, for the new spikes no scientific studies have been published. Most likely the big brands are working internally with their best athletes to develop and improve these times," Hoogkamer, a faculty in Kinesiology at University of Massachusetts Integrative Locomotion Lab (UMILL), told this daily. "Studying the time savings of spikes on sprint and middle distance performances is also harder than that for marathon shoes as factors as acceleration, top speed and anaerobic energy pathways are not as easy to quantify in controlled conditions."

Even if actual performances have shown that athletes are able to chalk off half-a-second to one second per each lap, Hoogkamer hasn't seen them tested in a lab setting. "This mainly is a number based on actual performances by athletes, I haven't seen any research that objectively quantified this." His best theory for increased speeds even for sprinters is because of the foam on the shoes. "Since carbon fibre has been applied to sprint spikes for quite a while already, the recent improvements seem to be related to the foam, or at least the interaction between the carbon fibre plate and the foam."

Hoogkamer, who has studied the interaction in a lab setting while doing his study on marathon runners, explains. "(...) We studied the running mechanics of 10 runners, and tested the bending stiffness of the shoes. This allowed us to quantify how much energy can be stored and returned in the carbon fiber plate, in bending. That study suggested that the curved carbon fiber plate mainly helps to save metabolic energy by stiffening the foot, without making running harder for the calf muscles. Furthermore, the foam does seem to contribute a lot more in energy storage and return than the plate." However, he refuses to call it as mechanical doping. "As long as these technological advances stay within WA regulations, they should not be considered technological doping."

Nike answered a few questions posed by this daily and called it 'ultimate meeting of sports science and purposeful design'. "This line of product is an example of how product design can capture the fascination of an entire sporting community and, more broadly, inspire new benchmarks of athletic potential," a company spokesperson said.

****

In Tokyo, both Kipchoge and Hassan among countless others will wear Nike (other companies are also working on enhancing their products). If, as expected, records start to tumble in Tokyo, there will be renewed focus on super spikes.

PATHS TO VICTORY

1 SEEDING

Out of seven wrestlers, four (Ravi, Bajrang, Deepak and Vinesh) have been seeded. Seeded ones will be separated in each weight class, which means they will not face each other early in the event. However, Bajrang's nemesis Takuto Otoguro is out of top-4, which means they can meet early in the competition.

2 LEG DEFENCE AND CONCEDING EARLY POINTS

Leg defence has always been Indian wrestlers' Achilles' heel. Besides, there is at least a couple of wrestlers (Ravi and Bajrang) who concede early points. They have been working on these weaknesses and if they manage to put their plans in place, they can go the distance.

Pant, throwdown specialist Garani Covid positive in UK

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

TWO members of rhe Indian team have tested positive for Covid-19 and three others have been placed under isolation in London as the visitors departed to Durham on Thursday to play in a practice match against a County XI. The two who tested positive are wicketkeeper-batsman Rishabh Pant and throwdown specialist Dayanand Garani. Their close contacts — Wriddhiman Saha, reserve opener Abhimanyu Easwaran, and bowling coach Bharat Arun — have all been placed in isolation.

The development comes after the team assembled in London over the weekend after a two-week break that started at the end of the World Test Championship final. Since the majority of the squad had been living in a bio-bubble environment over the past year, the BCCI had granted them permission to take their families and enjoy a break period ahead of another gruelling six months.

When the number of Covid-19 cases spiked in the UK, BCCI secretary Jay Shah had asked the team members to take all precautions and avoid visiting crowded places. But even before the circular was sent, few of the players and support staff were seen at Wimbledon and at the Wembley Stadium, which hosted several group matches as well as the last three knockouts of Euro 2020. Pant is likely to come out of isolation on Sunday and can travel to Durham provided he tests negative.

It is understood that even before the team assembled in London, Pant had tested positive for Covid-19 on July 8 and was serving isolation at a private place, away from the team. The wicketkeeper was among those players and staff who recently got their second dose of vaccination in the UK last week. It is learnt that two other players and a support staff, who came in contact with Pant, underwent mandatory isolation and were cleared to travel for Durham only after testing negative.

However, the fresh development with regards to Dayanand has left many in the BCCI concerned. It is understood that the throwdown specialist, who was asymptomatic, tested positive in one of the routine RT-PCR tests in the team hotel on Wednesday, following which his close contacts too have been put under isolation at a hotel in London. In the case of Arun, who received both shots of the vaccine before leaving to UK, there is a chance he can end his isolation period as early as Sunday provided, he tests negative. All three, in fact, tested negative in the tests taken on Thursday.

Rowers to fly a day early, paddlers already in Delhi

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @New Delhi

INDIA'S Olympic-bound rowers will be leaving for Tokyo from New Delhi a day earlier than the rest of the contingent. The Rowing Federation of India, who had informed IOA of their plan more than a month back, to get much-needed practice.

In fact, the team wanted to leave on July 14 but due to unavailability of direct flights to Japan, they had booked the next available flight on July 16. The rowers finished the last day of training at Pune on Thursday.

"This will help our rowers to squeeze in an additional day of practice. Due to quarantine measures, we would have ended up getting only two days, now they will get three days. Also, at the time we had planned our departure, the charter Air India flight had not been booked," was RFI's response.

The athletes will have a couple of hours layover in Delhi before their flight to Japan. The first batch of athletes are due to leave on July 17 on board a Air India charter flight which leaves the national capital at 11 pm and reaches Tokyo early on July 18.

Paddlers reach early

Out of the four Tokyo-bound paddlers, three reached New Delhi on Thursday while A Sharath Kamal will reach on Friday morning. The group wanted to check their kits and make sure measurements are in order. The team would stay in a serviced apartment until July 17, where all of them have been allotted separate rooms. "We wanted to make sure there are no last-minute errors with regards to their kits and hence called them to Delhi in advance," TTFI secretary Arun Banerjee added.

Sparring with Rio medallist & others has put Amit in good stead: Kuttappa

ANMOL GURUNG @Chennai

THE biggest bouts of their lives are near. A medal in Tokyo could help them attain legendary status. Just two Indians — Vijender Singh (2008) and MC Mary Kom (2012) — have successfully returned with medals in the history of the Olympics. The Tokyo-bound pugilists (five men and four women including Mary) from India are at present looking to make the most of their last-minute preparations in Assisi, Italy, their training base for around a month. Due to leave for Tokyo on Saturday, the boxers are underdoing high-intensity training to be in their best shape before entering the Tokyo Games.

"We have had 10 sparring sessions in total. The boxers have have been undergoing speed training like sprints, speed bag and sparring. High intensity training in less time," CA Kuttappa, India men's chief coach, told this daily.

CA Kuttappa & Amit Panghal

Having landed in Italy in mid-June, Amit Panghal & Co have had the opportunity to have sparring sessions with pugilists from other countries like Colombia, France and Azerbaijan, to name a few. And Kuttappa is pleased with the momentum they've gained in those training sessions so far.

Take the case of Panghal (51kg), who is the country's biggest medal hope. The Haryana man, who is No 1 seed at the Games, has had the opportunity to learn about his potential rivals. "Amit has had tough sparring sessions with boxers from Colombia, France. Based on his performance, we can see what he can do better to improve. He has had tough sessions against Yuberjen Martinez of Colombia, who's the Rio Olympics silver medallist. So that should put him in good stead," Kuttappa said. Being the top seed, Panghal will avoid other top boxers but could face Martinez, who's unseeded, in the preliminary stages.

"The likes of Manish Kaushik, Satish Kumar have also had equally beneficial sessions against top rivals," he said.

Apart from Kuttappa, the coaching and support staff that will travel to Tokyo includes men's high performance coach Santiago Nieva, women's high performance director Raffaele Bergamasco, women's chief coach Mohammed Ali Qamar, coach Chhote Lal, two physios and one doctor.

OLYMPIC UPDATE

VIRUS RULES 'WORKING' AHEAD OF GAMES: BACH

TOKYO: IOC chief Thomas Bach said Thursday that Tokyo Games anti-virus rules "are working", as the Japanese capital recorded its highest number of new infections since January. With just over a week until Tokyo 2020 opens for events mostly behind closed doors, organisers insist they can be held safely as long as athletes, officials and journalists adhere to strict anti-virus regulations. But an athlete in Japan tested positive for the virus along with five Olympic workers, mostly contractors, as Tokyo recorded 1,308 new cases. The news came as it emerged that eight staff at a Japanese hotel hosting Brazil's Olympic judo team had tested positive, and a staff member from Russia's rugby sevens team was hospitalised after a positive test. Bach said a trip to the Olympic Village on Thursday morning had convinced him that anti-virus rules are "in place, and they are working, and they are enforced".

Gokulam set for AFC Women's Club Championship

MARTIN JOSEPH @Kochi

GOKULAM KERALA FC are looking to give a good account of themselves and the nation at the continental stage as they have been elected as India's representatives in the inaugural AFC Women's Club Championship by the All India Football Federation.

This decision was taken on Thursday after the AIFF decided to postpone this year's IWL (Indian Women's League) citing the prevalent Covid-19 situation and monsoons. Gokulam had won the 4th edition of the IWL which was held in the 2019-20 season. The AFC Club Championship will be held between October 30 and November 14 and will see the participation of clubs from eight countries.

"Now it's a matter of assembling a good squad and getting ready for this Championship which will be very good exposure for the girls. Hopefully, everything works out well and we are ready for this," said Gokulam president VC Praveen.

He also suggested that the club have always given due importance to women's football just like the men's team. "As a club, we have always tried to support women's football. To be India's representative in this continental tournament is a big responsibility for us. Hopefully playing in this competition and doing well will boost women's football in India," he said.

As for the fifth edition of the IWL, the federation has not decided when they will host the competition. "We would like to inform you that after having a discussion with the local organising committee (Odisha Sports), AIFF has decided to postpone the 5th edition of the Indian Women's League (IWL) for a few months keeping in mind the monsoon, and an expected third wave of infections," AIFF General Secretary Kushal Das said in a statement.

Covid-19 lab leak was prematurely ruled out: Tedros

Head of WHO calls on China to cooperate, demands more access to raw, early data

SCIENCE

BERLIN: The head of the World Health Organization acknowledged it was premature to rule out a potential link between the Covid-19 pandemic and a laboratory leak, and he said Thursday he is asking China to be more transparent as scientists search for the origins of the coronavirus.

In a rare departure from his usual deference to powerful member countries, WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said getting access to raw data had been a challenge for the international team that traveled to China earlier this year to investigate the source of Covid-19. The first human cases were identified in the Chinese city of Wuhan.

Tedros told reporters that the UN health agency based in Geneva is "asking actually China to be transparent, open and cooperate, especially on the information, raw data that we asked for at the early days of the pandemic."

He said there had been a "premature push" to rule out the theory that the virus might have escaped from a Chinese government lab in Wuhan - undermining WHO's own March report, which concluded that a laboratory leak was "extremely unlikely."

"I was a lab technician myself, I'm an immunologist, and I have worked in the lab, and lab accidents happen," Tedros said. "It's common."

In recent months, the idea that the pandemic started somehow in a laboratory — and perhaps involved an engineered virus — has gained traction, especially with President Joe Biden ordering a review of U.S. intelligence to assess the possibility in May.

China has struck back aggressively, arguing that attempts to link the origins of COVID-19 to a lab were politically motivated and suggesting that the virus might have started abroad. At WHO's annual meeting of health ministers in the spring, China said that the future search for COVID-19 s origins should continue — in other countries.

Most scientists suspect that the coronavirus originated in bats, but the exact route by which it first jumped into people has not yet been determined. It typically takes decades to narrow down the natural source of an animal virus like Ebola or SARS.

Tedros said that "checking what happened, especially in our labs, is important" to nailing down if the pandemic had any laboratory links.

"We need information, direct information on what the situation of this lab was before and at the start of the pandemic," the WHO chief said, adding that China's cooperation was critical. "If we get full information, we can exclude (the lab connection)."

Throughout the pandemic, Tedros has repeatedly praised China for its speed and transparency.

How the world's biggest carbon market will work

China is set to launch what it touts will be the world's largest carbon emissions trading scheme (ETS). Beijing projects its ETS as walking the talk on its pledge to boost action on climate change. But will it help the world toe the Paris Agreement line for capping global temperatures at 1.5ºC-2ºC above pre-industrial times? Let's explore

WHAT'S CARBON ETS?

It essentially aims to convert carbon emission into a tradable commodity. Here's how it works: Suppose the government sells you a license, capping your carbon emission to 15 kg/day, and you buy a car that emits only 6 kg/day. Now, what do you do with the remaining 9 kg/day? You sell it to someone whose emission exceeds their permitted level. This way those cutting down on emissions are incentivised as they get to earn extra money

WHAT'S CHINA'S PLAN?

As explained earlier, China has put a price on carbon emission. Now, designated CO_2 emitting sites such as factories or power plants will be issued rights to release a certain amount of carbon in the form of "permits", which can be traded. At the end of each cycle, participants must submit a compliance report

WHAT SECTORS ARE COVERED?

A total of eight sectors will be covered in phase I. It will account for 50% of China's total emissions. The nominated sectors are petrochemical, chemical, building materials, non-ferrous metals, pulp and paper, power generation and aviation

Q&A

WILL IT HELP?

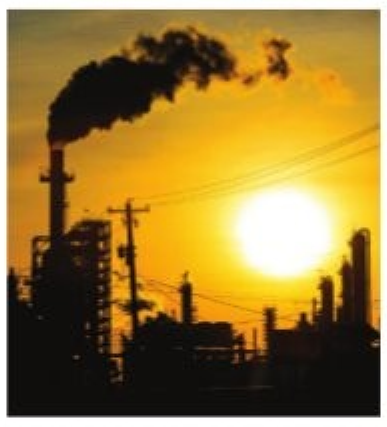
There is no conclusive evidence favouring or contradicting ETS' efficacy. Two studies, both published in April 2021, arrived at opposite answers. According to a joint report by the International Energy Agency and Tsinghua Institute of Energy, the national ETS "could be an important market-based instrument to help the country meet its recently enhanced climate goals". However, contrary to IEA/Tsinghua report, UK thinktank TransitionZero says China's national ETS "will likely have no impact"

HOW EARNEST IS CHINA?

In September 2020, China President Xi Jinping announced the country's dual carbon goals. As per the dual goals, China aims to reach its carbon emissions peak before 2030 and become carbon neutral before 2060

ELSEWHERE

- The European Union Emissions Trading System (EU ETS) was the first greenhouse gas emissions trading scheme in the world
- Launched in 2005, the EU ETS covers more than 11,000 factories, power stations, and other installations with a net heat excess of 20 MW in 31 countries—all 27 EU member states plus Iceland, Norway, Liechtenstein and UK
- A study (Bayer & Aklin 2020) in PNAS estimated that the EU ETS had reduced CO_2 emissions by more than 1 billion tonnes between 2008 and 2016, or 3.8% of total EU-wide emissions



UP, DOWN, UP

- The EU ETS accounts for almost 9/10ths of the $277 global carbon market. It was no good in the beginning, with too many companies getting allowances
- Once the excess allowances were scrapped, the market took off, with the main buyers being utilities, industries and financial firms, who speculate using futures or options
- A high price of an allowance ($59-$70 in EU, $55-$69 in UK and $6-$7.7 in China) is seen as an indicator of success. And the EU has seen prices jump from close to zero in 2013 to the current level

WTO seeks historic deal on fisheries

CONSERVATION

GENEVA: The World Trade Organization kicked off a ministerial meeting Thursday aimed at breathing life into drawn-out negotiations towards banning subsidies that favour overfishing, but numerous sticking points remain.

Before the meeting, WTO chief Ngozi Okonjo-Iweala voiced cautious optimism that trade ministers from the organisation's 164 member states could finally move towards clinching a "historic" agreement after 20 years of negotiations.

"While no one expects a miracle, the meeting represents a golden opportunity to bring the negotiations within striking distance of a deal," she said in an editorial published Wednesday in Project Syndicate. "A failure to do so would jeopardise the ocean's biodiversity and the sustainability of the fish stocks on which so many depend for food and income."

The talks aim to ban subsidies that contribute to illegal and unregulated fishing, as well as to overfishing, threatening the sustainability of fish stocks and the industry.

While fishing should in theory be held in check by the environment, with low fish stocks pushing up costs, subsidies can keep unprofitable fleets at sea.

It is widely agreed that action is needed to protect a crucial resource that millions of people depend on for their livelihoods.

In 2017, the Food and Agriculture Organization estimated that one third of global fish stocks were overfished.

Global fisheries subsidies are meanwhile estimated at between $14 billion and $54 billion a year, as per the WTO.

UNVACCINATED CAN'T BE IN PUBLIC, CHINA WARNS

HEALTH

MILLIONS of Chinese people face bans from public spaces including schools, hospitals and shopping malls unless they get a Covid-19 vaccine, under new edicts covering nearly two dozen cities and counties.

The coronavirus first emerged in the Chinese city of Wuhan in late 2019, but since then the country has brought it under control — and Beijing is keen on keeping it that way. The tough new rules, which follow the emergence of the Delta variant across Asia, will be imposed on numerous second-tier cities in a possible marker of what is to come for the whole country.

China seeks to inoculate 64% of its population by end of the year, and new measures suggest high levels of coercion. In Chuxiong, Yunnan, -- home to about 510,000 -- all residents above 18 need to get at least one dose of the vaccine by July 23, as per a government notice. Those who fail to meet the deadline "will not be allowed to enter public facilities including hospitals, nursing homes, kindergartens and schools, libraries, museums, and prisons or take public transport", the notice said.

RARE SPECIES

Fishermen turn from foe to friend in fight to save Indus dolphin

CONSERVATION

SUKKUR: Freshwater dolphins are flourishing in a stretch of Pakistan's main river after a helping hand from fishermen mobilised to defend a rare species driven to near-extinction.

Identifiable by their saw-like beaks, Indus River dolphins once swam from the Himalayas to the Arabian sea, but now mostly cluster in a 180-km length of the waterway in southern Sindh province.

A glimpse of a dolphin cutting through muddy water to gasp for air is a regular sight along the mighty river, but most villagers nearby were unaware their neighbours were on the brink of extinction.

"We had to explain that it was a unique species only found in the Indus and nowhere else," Abdul Jabbar, who gave up fishing for a job on the dolphin rescue team, said on the banks of Dadu Canal, which he patrols by bike.

Decades of uncontrolled fishing and habitat loss caused by pollution and man-made dams saw the dolphin population plummet to around 1,200 at the turn of the century.

Ghulam Akbar (L), a fisherman and volunteer of the Indus river dolphins rescue team, stands on a boat during a monitoring session on the Indus | AFP

They are classed as an endangered species by the International Union for Conservation of Nature, which says their numbers have fallen by more than 50 percent since the 1940s. In a bid to turn around the fortunes of the mammals, Pakistani wildlife officials began a painstaking door-to-door awareness campaign with the local fishing community on the riverbanks and arterial canals.

They offered advice on dolphin-friendly nets and warned against harmful and illegal poison-fishing – the practice of using chemicals to kill small fish used for poultry feed.

The World Wide Fund for Nature also offered up to $6,300 worth of loans to let fishermen set up other businesses.

With the help of the provincial wildlife department, they established a dolphin monitoring network of 100 volunteers and a handful of paid staff, and a 24-hour phone helpline for villagers to call if they see a dolphin in distress.

Jabbar's commitment is now boundless. He recently missed the birth of his child when a dolphin became trapped in one of the river's canals.

The latest survey, from 2017, showed dolphin numbers had rebounded to about 1,800.

Brain device lets disabled man talk in a medical first

RESEARCH

RESEARCHERS have harnessed the brain waves of a paralysed man unable to speak — and turned what he intended to say into sentences on a computer screen. It will take years of additional research but the study, reported in the New England Journal of Medicine, marks an important step toward one day restoring more natural communication for people who can't talk because of injury or illness. Today, people who can't speak or write because of paralysis have very limited ways of communicating. For example, the man in the experiment, uses a pointer attached to a baseball cap that lets him move his head to touch words or letters on a screen.

In recent years, experiments with mind-controlled prosthetics have allowed paralysed people to shake hands or take a drink using a robotic arm – they imagine moving and those brain signals are relayed through a computer to the artificial limb. Dr. Edward Chang, a neurosurgeon at the University of California built on that work and decoded brain waves that normally control the vocal tract, the tiny muscle movements of the lips, jaw, tongue and larynx that form each consonant and vowel. Volunteering to test the device was a man in his late 30s who 15 years ago suffered a brain-stem stroke that caused widespread paralysis and robbed him of speech. The researchers implanted electrodes on the surface of the man's brain. A computer analysed the patterns when he attempted to say common words such as "water" or "good," eventually becoming able to differentiate between 50 words that could generate more than 1,000 sentences.
